McAlester, Okla., Aug. 10 [Special].—The escape of four long term convicts from the Oklahoma state prison was thwarted here today at the cost of four lives. Four others were wounded.

The dead were Jess Dunn, warden of the prison; Tab Ford, Pittsburg county jailer, and two convicts, Claude Beavers and Roy Magee.

The wounded were Robert Pollock, a prison guard; J. H. Fentriss, an Oklahoma City telephone engineer, and two other convicts, Bill Anderson and Hiram Prather. Anderson at first was believed dead when examined by prison physicians, but later it was announced that "a spark of life remained." He was expected to die.

Dunn and Fentriss, who were installing new equipment in the prison, were walking across the prison yard when the four convicts, led by Beavers, leaped upon them.

Force Opening of Gates.

The convicts, who had been at liberty in the prison yard for their usual Sunday exercise, carried long knives fashioned from old files.

After taking Dunn and Fentriss behind steps leading to the prison hospital and binding their hands, the four convicts marched their hostages to the east gate of the prison. There they demanded that the guards in two towers atop the wall drop their sawedoff shotguns and open the gates, threatening to kill their captives if the guards did not comply.

On Dunn's instructions the guards dropped their guns, which were seized by the fleeing felons, and opened the gates.

Sped Off in Auto.

Outside the walls the convicts ran to an automobile parked in front of a nearby store, forced their hostages into the rear seat, and, with Beavers at the wheel, drove off.

Two bridgeouts helped foil the convicts' escape. Leaving the east prison gate, they shot north, then east and into a bridgeout over a gully. They were met by Deputy Sheriff William Alexander, Jailer Ford, and Pollock. A gunfight followed and Beavers was killed. The fugitives backed out, turned into a diagonal road, but at the end of three blocks ran into the second bridgeout and were trapped.

"When I met them at the first bridgeout," said Alexander, "Warden Dunn asked me to let them pass. A knife was at his throat. I said he could pass, but the prisoners had to surrender.

Fugitive Slain at Wheel.

"I was at the side of the road and Beavers backed the car he was driving. A man in the back seat shot at me. I started shooting and killed Beavers. The convicts changed drivers and swung the car away. We chased them three blocks and they ran into another bridge out.

"I jumped out of my car with them shooting at me, and they jumped into a ditch, where I shot it out with them. They had to stick their heads up to shoot at me and that's when I got them."

Alexander said Ford was killed by the convicts' fire before he could get out of the car. Dunn's body was in the rear seat of the fugitives' car and Fentriss, who had been stabbed, was tied by his wrists to the car. Pollock was wounded carrying ammunition to Alexander.

Leader in Previous Break.

Warden Dunn, 49 years old, was a deputy on May 13, 1936, when Beavers, 39, serving 25 years for robbery, led a 24 man prison break in which a guard was slain. Anderson, 33, serving 27 years for robbery, took part in the same break. Anderson was captured the next day, and Beavers was seized eight days later. He was tried for the murder of the guard and sentenced to the electric chair, but his sentence later was commuted to life imprisonment.

Prather, 33, serving a life term for murder, tried to tunnel under the prison wall in 1937, but was detected before he escaped. Magee, 37, was serving a 15 year term for robbery.

Victim Defies 3 Labor Goons in Milk Strife

Fred Twietmeyer, Homewood dairy operator who was brutally beaten Friday, said last night that he will defy three uncaptured labor goons today by personally driving a truck to stores in Joliet and Lockport where the goons warned him to quit selling milk in gallon and half-gallon containers.

Meanwhile Sheriff Joseph O'Neill of Will county was "out of town" with unserved warrants resting on his desk. The warrants were obtained Friday and name three business agents of the Teamsters' and Chauffeurs' union of Joliet as the goons who assaulted Twietmeyer. The men are Howard and Elrie [Husky] Floyd and Jerry Dodge. Bail was fixed at $5,000 each.

Deputy Answers Questions.

Sheriff O'Neill could not be reached at his home, at the county jail, or at his office. Deputy Sheriff William Palmer said: "The sheriff is out of town, but he didn't say where. No, those warrants haven't been served yet. They're in the front office."

Palmer was asked whether the Joliet police had been asked to help. "I don't suppose so," he replied. "We can't locate those union fellows. They're in hiding temporarily. They're not at home.

"But I guess they'll turn up shortly. I know the Floyds. I don't know Dodge, but he's been schooled by them."

Victim to Travel Alone.

Twietmeyer said he will go over the forbidden route alone. His driver, Burt Adams, who escaped a beating by going in search of help when the goons appeared at a filling station at New Lenox, will not be with him. Twietmeyer's nose was broken and his face and scalp lacerated.

The assault took place shortly after the Floyds had induced Policeman Fred Lindner of Lockport to search Twietmeyer and Adams for weapons. Twietmeyer and Adams carried none, the Floyds learned thru Lindner.

Twietmeyer said the beating was the culmination of a campaign of terrorism.

"About a year ago the Teamsters' union of Joliet started picketing the five stores buying my milk in the large bottles," he said. "That was stopped when one of the stores got an injunction.

"Stench bombs were thrown into two stores, and windows were broken in two others. I was smeared in a union publication, altho my employés belong to Local 721 of the Teamsters' union. The Joliet and Lockport deliveries are only a small part of my business, and I thought it was hardly worth the trouble.

He's on Route Today.

"But now that they've turned to personal violence, I'm not going to give up. I'm on that route to stay, and I can't be bought out at any price."

Stores sell Twietmeyer's milk at 34 cents a gallon and 18 cents for a half gallon. In comparison, Joliet dairies sell milk thru the stores or delivered at retail prices of 13 cents for one quart, 24 cents for a half gallon, and 33 cents for three quarts. These prices were established June 1 by the Sprague Dairy company and within 10 days the other Joliet dairies had followed suit.

State's Attorney James E. Burke, who promised prosecution to stop hoodlumism, said he had a report that certain Joliet dairies want to halt the sale of milk in large size containers, which they do not use.

George Sprague of the Sprague Dairy company declared last night that this report is untrue.

HOUSE MAY PUT OFF ACTION FOR ONE DAY ON DRAFT EXTENSION

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10 [Special].—The house, which was expected to begin voting tomorrow on amendments to its resolution for extending the military service of draftees, National Guardsmen, and other army personnel, may postpone action until Tuesday because of the death today of Representative Albert G. Rutherford [R., Pa.]. Altho the chamber was scheduled to convene an hour ahead of the regular time in an effort to dispose of the legislation, it was believed an early recess would be taken.

As the house resolution was drafted, it calls for extension of service for the duration of the emergency. After two hours of general debate, the house is expected to vote on several amendments which would set various time limits for such extension. The senate already has approved legislation to extend the service of citizen soldiers for 18 months, making the total period 2½ years.

Britain's Queen Tells U. S.: Our Cause Is Yours

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 10.—Queen Elizabeth, in a 10 minute broadcast to American women tonight, said, "To my mind, at any rate, your generosity is born of your conviction that we fight to save a cause that is yours no less than ours."

Queen Elizabeth.

The address, her first in two years to America, was designed to answer a demand that Americans' voluntary services in Britain's behalf receive official thanks.

Special Praise for Women.

"Tho I speak for us all in Britain in thanking all you in America," the queen said, "I feel I would like to send a special message of thanks to American women."

She evoked a picture of American women "knitting on your porches, serving in your committee rooms and helping in a hundred ways to bring relief to our civilian garrison here."

Gratitude "Deep, Sincere."

"It isn't our way in dark days to turn for support to others," the queen added, "but even had we been minded so to do, your instant help would have forestalled us. I find it hard to tell you of our gratitude in adequate terms, tho I ask you to believe it is deep and sincere."

FOUR MAN TEAM SAVES GIRL, 18, FROM DROWNING

Four men collaborated last night to save the life of Miss Amelia Dickman, 18 years old, when she was seized with cramps and sank in Lake Michigan 30 feet off shore at 55th street. Miss Dickman, a stenographer living at 833 East 52d street, was brought ashore by W. V. Woodruff, 35, of 6030 Woodlawn avenue, and his nephew, Charles Ghere, 18, of 5437 Kimbark avenue, who were swimming near by. John Hermann Jr., 18, of 5753 South Hoyne avenue, a gardener, applied artificial respiration until relieved by Park Policeman Raymond Tussey.

CUDAHY URGES F. D. R. TO MAKE PLEA FOR PEACE

Time Ripe for Bid, Says Ex-Envoy.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 10 [Special].—John Cudahy, former United States ambassador, recently returned after eight years in Europe, pleaded in a nationwide broadcast here tonight that President Roosevelt raise his voice as an arbiter in the name of world peace. The time is ripe, he declared, for the success of a feasible peace proposal.

John Cudahy.

Cudahy expressed confidence that neither Adolf Hitler nor British Prime Minister Winston Churchill would dare ignore such a petition. Backed by an America mobilized in the interest of peace, the proposal, he said, would be made in a language that Hitler can understand—a language backed by force.

As ambassador to Belgium, minister to Ireland, and ambassador to Poland, Cudahy has studied European problems at first hand.

International Government Urged.

Cudahy proposed that President Roosevelt, with the approval of congress, propound an American peace program for a new world order based on an association of nations and inauguration of a sovereign international government with power to enforce its decrees to solve Europe's wars.

President Roosevelt should speak beyond Hitler to the German people, Cudahy said. He said he knew from recent personal contact with the German people that they are weary of war and yearn for peace but fear another Versailles treaty. Only this country, he declared, can capitalize on that yearning and give the German people assurance of a just peace.

Recalling his own support of President Roosevelt and election campaign pledges that the country would be kept out of war, Cudahy said he believes the President still will keep that promise if the people stand by him against the war party.

Calls for Peace Mobilization.

He reminded his listeners of the great error made by this country's entry into the World war and declared this need not happen again if the people mobilize for peace.

"I speak to you tonight of things I have seen with my own eyes during eight years, and felt with my own flesh," Cudahy said. "During those eight years I traveled from one end of Europe to the other. I talked to the people and conferred with the leading statesmen.

"I was in Belgium when the fury of the blitzkrieg struck down that defenseless little land of peace. I visited war blackened England and Italy. . . . And now I have just come back from Germany with gratitude in my heart, and a reverent prayer on my lips that my own country may be spared the horror and agony I have witnessed on every side.

Tells of Seeing Hitler.

"Only a few weeks ago I talked to Adolf Hitler at Berchtesgaden, a small, pale man of frail physique, almost insignificant in bearing. And yet in his unimpressive person there is embodied more force and potentiality of power than any other human being who has ever stepped upon the stage of history.

"In Belgium I witnessed his bombers blasting Brussels before the German foreign office made any pretense of justifying this brutal, ruthless action. Never has there been a more heartless imperialism since man emerged from the slime of barbarism, and civilization became a word in human annals.

"All this record the American people had before them when they went to the polls last fall to choose a President, and despite the overwhelming sympathy with England, despite our profound grief for fallen France, the considered judgment of the American people was against participation in this war. Both candidates for the Presidency were against intervention. . . .

Urged Roosevelt's Election.

"I was one of those who advocated the election of President Roosevelt and I was convinced then, as I am convinced now, that President Roosevelt can and will keep this country out of war. . . . He promised to keep

KREMLIN STRUCK BY HEAVY BOMB, GERMANS CLAIM

Moscow's Kremlin was hit squarely with a heavy bomb and huge fires were started by "thousands of incendiaries" dropped from nearly 100 planes Saturday night during the heaviest raid of the war on the Red capital, German sources said early today. On the battle front the Nazi high command said "operations were proceeding according to plan" and reported 10,000 Russian planes destroyed to date.

Russia early today officially admitted stubborn fighting in Ukraine and Leningrad sectors where the Germans last week claimed gains. These were at Uman, 125 miles south of Kiev, capital of the Ukraine, and at Soltsi, 120 miles due south of Leningrad. It also reported continued fighting on other fronts and claimed 45 German planes were shot down.

Red 'Fanatics' a Deadly Foe, Finns Discover

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE FINNISH ARMY ON THE SOUTHERN FRONT, Aug. 10.—For three days I have been seeing a war which would seem familiar to a veteran of the World war.

Along this sector of their widely extended front [the identification not permitted] the Finnish armies have come to a halt after about one month of fighting and a furious advance which carried them thru all of the territory they lost to Russia by a peace treaty of March, 1940, and broke at some points into the territory of Russia proper.

There is, however, no letup in the war, The Tribune correspondent was assured by one of the highest ranking generals in the Finnish army. The Finns are simply catching their breath and consolidating positions.

Sees War in 1914 Tradition.

At one spot in territory which was Finnish before 1940 the Russians were holding out in a city on the shore of Lake Ladoga. Finnish shells were crashing down on the Russians entrenched on the other side of a river and an occasional screech reminded one that Russians have shells, too, and can fire them.

Here was real advanced post activity in the 1914 tradition. Concealed in a ravine was the detachment's post of command, its officer hanging on a field telephone. Shell shelters to protect men from shell splinters starred the hillsides. Good shelters they were, too, cut in solid rock, some roofed over. Tanks cannot be used because of the gullies and forests. Even aviation is little used.

Like Hand-to-Hand Fight.

Often it is difficult to determine the enemy's exact position. There must be constant scouting and patrol work at which the Finns, born woodsmen, excel. This tracking of an invisible enemy thru the trees seems to suit them, as does the type of fighting where small fire arms and even knives and bayonets are used in close encounters.

At the farthest advance point of the Finnish lines inside territory that was Russian before 1940 an artillery exchange was in progress. It was all nice and orderly, even courteous. For each Finnish shell exactly one Russian shell was sent back in reply.

Finnish officers praise the spirit and the bravery of the Russians. They fight stubbornly, fanatically, and usually have to be annihilated. The Finns frankly say the only prisoners they take are deserters who have thrown their arms away. The others are too dangerous, suddenly pulling concealed weapons or a hand grenade after simulating surrender.

Some of It "Forced Courage."

Russian commissars and "political troops" who shoot their own comrades if they retreat make some of the Russian valor "forced courage," the Finns say. But all in all the Russian is a deadly foe, altho wild fanaticism on one side is matched on the other by adamant determination.

Russian equipment, in Finnish judgment, is good. The Finnish soldiers tell me they prefer Russian automatic pistols and Tommy guns to their own because they are lighter and easier to handle. The Russian prisoners I saw had uniforms of good material.

DEMAND F.D.R. RESIST ANY NEW MOVE BY TOKIO

Naval Action Urged if Necessary.

'Danger Increases'

MELBOURNE, Australia [Monday] Aug. 11 (AP).—Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies declared the Pacific situation was "more full of danger than ever" today in a statement before a special meeting of the Australian cabinet. He canceled a tour yesterday to return here for the meeting, saying the far east situation was grave. "We are not disposed to run away from the fact that Singapore is a part of Australia's frontier," he told the cabinet. "Australia is prepared to defend herself with her forces." As Menzies canceled his tour, Navy Minister William Hughes said: "Peace or war in the Pacific is for Japan to decide."

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—The British government, it was learned today, is bringing enormous pressure to bear upon the Roosevelt administration to take the lead in measures to resist the further advance of Japan into the South Pacific.

Arrow Indicates Singapore.

These measures are not only economic but military and embrace the employment of American naval and air forces in the far east, if necessary, to check the invasion of Thailand by Japan. The Japanese are maneuvering to obtain bases in Thailand from which to launch an attack upon British Singapore, the Gibraltar of the orient, and upon Burma, eastern bulwark of India.

Lord Halifax, British ambassador to the United States, has had several conferences recently with Secretary of State Cordell Hull on British-American coöperation in the several theaters of war, including the far east.

Speculate on Conference.

Whether President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill also are engaged in negotiations on this and other questions is still a matter of speculation. Rumors that they are conferring somewhere in the north Atlantic region are yet neither confirmed nor exploded. The whereabouts of the prime minister is still unaccounted for and conclusive evidence is wanting that Mr. Roosevelt actually is still aboard his yacht off the New England coast.

If the heads of the two nations are meeting, the only logical purpose would be the discussion of the more complete participation of the United States in the war. Such discussion would revolve around the dispatch of American expeditionary forces to support the British both in the trans-Atlantic and trans-Pacific theaters of war.

Unusually significant in the light of current developments was the argument advanced by Social Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt tonight that the United States cannot permit Japan to invade Thailand or Germany to seize Dakar in West Africa.

View Stated in Debate.

Mr. McNutt, who formerly was United States high commissioner to the Philippines and is now a close adviser of the President on far eastern affairs, stated his views in the course of the radio debate in the American forum of the air on the question: "What should be the United States policy toward Japan?"

Emphasizing the fact that we obtain tin, rubber, and 15 other raw materials from the South Pacific, Mr. McNutt said that if the Philippines are taken or flanked by an unfriendly power "we have lost these resources to axis powers."

"At all costs, then," McNutt continued, "the Japanese must not become masters of the South Pacific and the Dutch East Indies.

"We desire to avoid war with Japan. We would like to woo her

Mighty Negro Chorus of 1,000 Is Ready.

Tickets for the 12th Chicagoland Music Festival, to be held next Saturday night in Soldiers' field, are on sale at 50 cents and $1 at THE TRIBUNE's public service offices in Tribune Tower and at 1 South Dearborn street. All seats are reserved. Mail order checks should be sent to the Festival Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower, and should be made payable to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

Music that is sincere and earthy. Music that carries the laments and the hope of a once forlorn race. Music that for 11 years has brought a hush to the multitudes at the Chicagoland Music Festival.

This is the music that for several weeks has been in rehearsal in 28 Chicago and two Indiana churches for the colored, where 30 units of the Festival Negro chorus of 1,000 voices have been preparing for their part in the 12th annual festival to be held next Saturday night in Soldiers' field.

Hold Frequent Rehearsals.

The central unit, under the direction of J. Wesley Jones, has been rehearsing almost nightly in the Metropolitan Community church, 41st street and South Park way, where he is musical director. Jones will conduct the full chorus in Soldiers' field.

In his shirt sleeves he walks among the singers, hearing the individual voices, hearing the sections, then, half turning his back, he listens critically to the full chorus. They sing "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot" and "Soon Ah Will Be Done," the two numbers they will do at the festival. Jones stops the chorus and steps over to the basses and baritones.

He puts them thru their part without the other voices. A deep, velvety rhythm; a throaty, pulsing beat fill the vaulted room. Without the covering of the higher voices, the effect is at once exciting and hypnetic.

They Feel It.

These people feel their music. No one can listen long without feeling it, too. Extra pews in the church are gradually filled. Outside, in the hot night, passersby stop to listen.

Jones is putting the chorus thru "Sweet Chariot" again now. A young woman who weighs barely 90 pounds has stepped out to take the solo part, just as she will in Soldiers' field. She is Virginia Davis, a lyric soprano, who teaches the second grade in the public schools of Murphysboro, Ill. Her high, sweet tones soar above the patient, compelling voices of the others.

Between their festival numbers the people of the chorus sing others, including that old time arouser, "In That Great Gettin' Up Mornin'." Weariness vanishes during this one.

Singers Work Hard.

And these people are weary, most of them. They work hard all day. Even J. Wesley Jones sometimes is tired. [In private life he is an assistant superintendent of mail in the Chicago postoffice]. But on the nights before the festival they all come to sing a music that transcends weariness.

And their contribution is one of the factors that make the festival great. It presents the widest variety of music to be heard anywhere in one evening.

At this year's festival will be heard the largest marimba symphony orchestra ever assembled. From many states the players will come, bringing their massive instruments. They will be directed by Omar Clair Musser, who is noted as a designer and as a composer of marimba music, for his improvements in the instrument, and for his research into its history in several foreign countries.

Some Liquid Thunder.

The bass for this orchestra will be supplied not by drums or brass, but by two amazing contrabass marimbas —the only ones in the world. Designed by Musser, they stand more than six feet in height and the players move along runways to reach the massive keys. Their tones of liquid thunder are stirring and beautiful. Special lighting effects will make the marimba presentation a spectacle within itself.

As in the last two years, Porter Heaps, the nationally famous organist, will play a 30 minute concert early in the show.

MUSIC FETE'S CHORAL COMPETITION TO GET UNDER WAY TONIGHT

Mrs. Edmund J. Tyler.

Thirty-one men's, women's, and mixed choruses, containing a total of 1,132 singers, are ready to meet in the choral competitions of the 12th annual Chicagoland Music Festival. The competitions will begin tonight at 7 p. m. in the grand ballroom of the Drake hotel and reach their climax Saturday night with the Festival concert in Soldiers' field.

Five of the groups, all from Cook county, will compete tonight. They are as follows: [Mixed choruses, class A, 50 to 100 singers] Chicago Lithuanian chorus, "Pirmyn," directed by Charles F. Stephens; Hartzell Young People's chorus, directed by James T. Campbell. [Mixed choruses, class B, 20 to 50 singers] Chicago Radio ensemble, directed by Lois Albright; Canticle singers, led by Zdzislaw Skubikowski, and the St. Agnes Mixed chorus, conducted by Margaret Quinn-Fox.

At the close of the contest, a Cook county women's group, the Alice Stephens singers, directed by Alice Stephens, will join the others in a grand rehearsal of two numbers which will be sung Saturday night in Soldiers' field. The two numbers are the Allelujah chorus from "The Messiah" by Handel, and "Land of Hope and Glory" by Sir Edward Elgar. They will be rehearsed by Dr. Edgar Nelson, general choral director of the festival. Spectators will be charged an admittance fee of 25 cents. Mrs. Edmund J. Tyler is in charge of the contests.

10,000 ATTEND WEST SIDE NIGHT OF SONG; LIKE IT

An audience of more than 10,000 persons packed the band shell in Garfield park last night to hear the fourth annual west side civic music festival. It was presented under the auspices of the Greater West Side Fine Arts association and was the week's opening event of a series that will have its culmination in the 12th annual Chicagoland Music Festival in Soldiers' field next Saturday night.

More than 500 singers and musicians participated. There were choir groups, a mass chorus of 100 directed by Frank Bennett, orchestras, bands, and soloists. All were warmly applauded. The night of music, covering four hours, wound up with a patriotic pageant directed by Miss Bessie Ryan, founder of the fine arts organization.

Vocal Winners Featured.

Featured on the program were winners of the west side vocal finals. They were Isabella Ryan, lyric soprano; Earl Bickel, lyric tenor; Rose Arbanas, coloratura soprano; Thomas Brennan, dramatic tenor, and Otto Slatinsky, baritone.

Joseph Summerhill, 17 years old, national champion high school cornet player, scored a hit with a display of his talent. He is a student in Austin High school.

Participants in Festival.

Among the groups which participated in the festival were the North Western Railroad Choral society, the Western Springs Symphony Woods orchestra, the Wurlitzer Accordion band, the Sears YMCA Instrumental trio, the Pullman Choral society, the school band of Walworth, Wis., and the Royal Hawaiian Electric Guitar band of South Bend, Ind.

The patriotic pageant featured the St. Cecilia choir from Our Lady of Sorrows church.

Masters of ceremony were Carl Stockholm, president of the west side fine arts group, and Philip Maxwell of THE TRIBUNE.

$50,000 BLAZE SWEEPS STABLE IN STOCKYARDS

Damage estimated at $50,000 was done late last night by fire which swept thru the Henry McNair stable in the Union stockyards. Eleven horses, including Roman Soldier, a stallion, valued at $3,800, are believed to have perished. The stable was located in 43d street, near Halsted street, inside the yards. Roman Soldier was said not to be the famous race horse of the same name.

Twenty-eight saddle and exhibition horses were in the barn, a two story brick structure, about 300 feet long and almost as wide, when the fire broke out. The cause was not learned. Attendants quickly opened the doors and drove most of the animals out.

Because of the peril to other structures and pens, a 5-11 alarm was sounded, bringing 43 pieces of apparatus and 270 firemen to the scene. The fire was soon brought under control. Fire Commissioner Corrigan estimated the loss. More than 10,000 spectators gathered at the scene. Halsted street traffic was tied up, as were live stock shipments arriving by truck.

Whitney, who was five times president of the New York Stock exchange, pleaded guilty of grand larceny in the theft of $214,000 from client accounts. After his release he will become superintendent of a dairy farm near Barnstable, Mass.

A MARRIED MAN IS EXEMPT FROM DRAFT IN CANADA

Need Serve Only Within His Own Country.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug 10.—In Canada, a married man automatically is exempt from the draft. In the United States, he is automatically exempt only if he has dependents.

A Canadian draftee need only serve within the ocean boundaries of the country. An American draftee is liable to service anywhere within the western hemisphere, which covers everything from Greenland to Hawaii and from Newfoundland to the southernmost tip of South America.

In Canada, a man who enlists in the reserve force, corresponding to the National Guard in the United States, is not called up in the draft. In the United States, such a man is part of the regular army.

May Return to Essential Job.

In Canada, a man who has completed his four months' training under the conscription laws may obtain a leave of absence to return to a job essential to national defense. In the United States, once such a man is classified and sent to camp, he's in the army to stay.

These essential differences between the Canadian and American conscription systems were elucidated today by a group of government officials. Two additional points were brought out by Maj. Gen. L. R. Lafleche, associate deputy minister of national war services:

1. The Canadian draftee does no kitchen police or fatigue duty other than the policing of his tent. Such work is left to over-age enlistees, such as members of the veterans' guard—enlisted soldiers of the last war who attend to cooking, sweeping and other services indelibly associated with the American draftee.

2. No Canadian under 21 or over 24 is eligible for service under the draft laws. In the United States the minimum age is 21 and the maximum 28.

102,000 Home Defense Army.

The Canadian 21-22-23-24 year olds have already built an army of 102,000 home defense soldiers. Volunteers from 18 to 43 already have provided an army of 100,000 abroad, with an additional 200,000 soldiers and airmen at home.

The draft regulations specify that those presently subject to call shall be individuals not more than 24 years old on July 1, 1940, and 21 or older since that time.

Last week-end the government announced that the three divisions presently overseas, plus a tank brigade and corps troops, shortly will be supplemented by two more divisions of 10,000 each. In the last war, the Canadians had 425,000 men overseas. Before the end of this war, the figure may be the same, or higher.

Ask for 32,000, Got 50,000 Men.

Service abroad, on a volunteer basis, has brought an entirely satisfactory response. The last call, for 32,000 men, brought 50,000. That, officials say, is why no universal conscription for overseas service has occurred, unlike the last war.

The Canadian army breaks down into four subdivisions: 1. Those called for compulsory military service; 2. Those who volunteer for service overseas; 3. Those in the reserve force; 4. Those in the veterans' guard.

Those in compulsory service receive four months' training, and thereafter are held on active duty. Originally, draftees received 30 days' training and then went into the reserves. This plan ended Feb. 3, 1941, when the reserve period was expanded. On April 21, 1941, draftees were ordered held in active service "for the duration" after completing their four months.

In this four months, Canadian army officials believe, a man competent for home defense can be turned out.

Under the conscription laws, postponements may be granted for a maximum of six months to men engaged in essential services.

TROOPS OF 33D DIVISION CAMP AT SHILOH PARK

Going to Arkansas for Field Maneuvers.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Corinth, Miss., Aug. 10.—The historic battle ground of Shiloh park is the bivouac area of the 66th infantry brigade, 33d division, tonight. The brigade, traveling in the wake of the 65th which left Camp Forrest, Tenn., yesterday, is on the way to Arkansas for field maneuvers.

Broken line shows route of march.

The column of 513 vehicles, carrying 5,415 men, left Camp Forrest at 6 a. m., but it was 9:45 a. m. before the last car cleared the camp. Virtually all of the 160 mile trip was made over back roads today to prevent interference with Sunday automobile travel.

Cold lunches were eaten en route and the trip was made without stop. On reaching Shiloh park tonight the troops found a substantial hot meal and a welcome cooling breeze blowing thru the high, rolling area. At 1 p. m. today a thermometer in Pulaski, Tenn., on the line of march, registered 111 degrees.

Armored Unit Moves Sept. 1.

Fort Knox, Ky., Aug. 10 (AP).—The first armored division—11,500 men and 2,500 fighting vehicles—will start a 730-mile trek, one of the longest in armored military history, Sept. 1 for the maneuver "battlefields" of Louisiana.

The announcement was made today by Maj. Gen. Bruce Magruder, division commander, who indicated that the division would be active in the field for three months, fighting "battles" in North and South Carolina, as well as Louisiana.

Transported on 20 Trains.

The division's 1,000 armored vehicles will be transported on 20 railroad trains, each consisting of 26 flat cars, three coaches, one kitchen car and a box car.

The outfit's 1,500 wheeled vehicles—jeeps, peeps and trucks—will travel on highways. These vehicles will carry 6,800 men, the trains will carry the remainder.

The three-month trip and maneuvers will climax a year of hard training during which the armored division vehicles have covered more than 9,000,000 miles in tactical missions alone.

22 More Paralysis Cases Found Near Camp Forrest

Tullahoma, Tenn., Aug. 10 [Special].—Twenty-two more cases of infantile paralysis in the Camp Forrest area of Tennessee were reported today by Dr. A. E. Hardison, state epidemiologist. Eight cases were reported in Moore county, which adjoins Camp Forrest on the east, and the others in Hamilton, Franklin, and Coffee counties. Schools in Moore county, scheduled to open Monday, were ordered to remain closed until Sept. 1.

IDENTIFY WOMAN'S BODY.

The body of a woman taken from the lake at Lawrence avenue Saturday was identified yesterday as that of Mrs. Hannah Wiot, 56 years old, 5356 Magnolia avenue.

Boys Are Blanked

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 10 [Special].—Four little girls placed one-two-three-four yesterday to the complete exclusion of the male element in the National Chiropractic convention's baby show.

"It just happened," explained Dr. Charles Wood, president of the Los Angeles College of Chiropractic, "that these four youngsters came within one-tenth of one per cent of age, weight, and height standards. First honors went to Nancy Louise Liles, 34 months old. Her father, James Liles, is a policeman.

SILK COMPANY OFFICIAL GAGGED, ROBBED IN WOOD

John G. Byers, a silk company executive, reported to the police yesterday that he had been kidnaped and robbed by bandits who left him bound and gagged in Sacred Heart wood, north of Fort Sheridan.

Byers freed himself and asked a ride from a passing motorist on state route 42 near the wood at 4:30 a. m. yesterday. He was taken to the Lake Forest police station. There Byers told Policeman Stewart Guess that three bandits seized him shortly after midnight as he was parking his car in front of his home at 662 Irving Park road.

The robbers stepped into the car with him and drove him to the wood, where they robbed him of $115, a $375 ring, and a $100 watch. They fled in his car after binding and gagging him. Byers, who is 52 years old, said that the bandits were young and seemed inexperienced.

CAPPER INSISTS U. S. WON'T LET NORWAY STARVE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10 (AP).—Senator Arthur Capper [R., Kas.] said in a message broadcast to Norway today that "We Americans are not going to abandon the brave people of Norway, of Denmark, of Holland, and other occupied countries."

Capper said that sooner or later it would be possible to get food to "the right people and places in Europe and then America will do her part in feeding all who are hungry."

"For the moment," he continued, "the hordes of Hitler seem to have the upper hand in Norway and in Europe—and as long as this is true, life cannot be genuine, civilized life for you or for the rest of Europe. But I for one am convinced that, thru your own brave and steadfast resistance on the home front and thru the help which the outside world, and especially America, is more and more bringing to you; I am convinced that Norway once more will be free and independent."

Two Dutch Steamers to Ply Colombia-Argentina Route

BOGOTA, Colombia, Aug. 10.—The Royal Netherlands Steamship Line is establishing a service between Atlantic ports of Colombia and Argentina, with the steamers Doros and St. Marten assigned to that trade.

CHILE UNCOVERS PLOT; SEIZES FOUR SUSPECTED NAZIS

SANTIAGO, Chile, Aug. 10 (AP).—Chilean officials announced last night that four alleged Nazis and a quantity of arms were seized at Puerto Montt, capital of the southern province of Llanquihue and a center of German colonization. The arrests were made, it was declared, after authorities discovered a plot against Chile's democratic institutions.

Unofficially it was reported that arrests were made in three neighboring towns.

Osvaldo Sagues, chief of the police investigations department, said those held would be tried on charges of belonging to "a militarized organization." He declined to comment on a newspaper report that Chilean authorities had discovered that German agents sought to establish contacts with the Chilean army and navy.

[Chile is the eighth South American country in which alleged Nazi or fifth columnist activities have been the subject of suppressive measures or investigations. The others are Brazil, Colombia, Uruguay, Peru, Bolivia, Paraguay, and Argentina.]

HURT IN 3 STORY FALL.

Gilbert E. Bronnenberg, 84 years old, 4331 Lake Park avenue, was in a critical condition in Chicago hospital yesterday after he apparently fell from the third floor rear porch of his home.

MOSCOW KREMLIN STRUCK BY HEAVY BOMB, NAZIS SAY

100 Planes Set Big Fires in Red Capital.

BERLIN, Aug. 11 [Monday] (AP).—The German air force scored a direct hit on the Kremlin with a heavy bomb and showered "many thousands of incendiaries" and explosives on Moscow Saturday night in the heaviest raid of the war on the Russian capital, German sources reported today.

DNB, official news agency, telling of the attack on the Kremlin, declared other bombs falling near the heart of the Russian government started fires of "extraordinary size."

Nearly 100 planes took part in the raid, which was declared noteworthy because of the large number of heavy bombs dropped. DNB said that oil tanks southeast of the city were set afire despite barrage balloons, anti-aircraft guns and night fighters.

Report Raiders Turned Back.

Hostile airplanes flying into Germany from the northeast attempted to reach Berlin early today but were turned back after anti-aircraft batteries opened fire, it was announced.

[The direction from which the planes came indicated they were from Russia.]

Of operations on the extensive front, the German high command reverted to the phrase "operations in the east proceeding according to plan" in Sunday's communique. Simultaneously, the high command fixed the number of Russian planes destroyed since the war began June 22 at more than 10,000, including those on the Finnish front.

In the course of fighting yesterday it was reported German dive bombers roared down upon two military trains and demolished them.

Claim Control of Dnieper.

German sources said the air force was leading the offensive and reported the destruction of 63 tanks in the Ukraine, the blasting of 230 trucks and 9 batteries in the Dnieper river area and the shooting down of 32 Russian planes and destruction of 7 more on the ground.

DNB said Dnieper river traffic was under German control and that two Russian transports of 1,000 and 800 tons were sunk in the river by German artillery and anti-tank gunfire. A soviet cruiser was reported sunk by Nazi planes in the Baltic sea off the Karelian coast.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Aug. 10.—Leningrad and its suburbs, which contain 3,200,000 inhabitants and an additional concentration of more than a million soviet troops, is now facing encirclement, according to the Helsingfors Sanomat. The newspaper reported today that Finnish armies were approaching the city from the north and northwest and that German columns were driving to encircle the city from the west, south, and east. A big battle has begun, it said.

Leningrad's position has been weakened by widening of the German break northward thru Estonia, the paper said, with Russian forces there now confined to a narrow strip along the coast from Hapsalu to Baltic Port [Baltiski] and east to Tallinn.

After capturing Walga, Wiljandi, and Parnu the Germans switched their drive to Ostrov and Pskov, then drove toward Leningrad by way of Rudnitza and Luga. Other forces headed north from central Estonia taking Tartu, Tapa, Rakwere, and Kunda, cutting up nine soviet divisions retreating toward Narva.

Leingrad was said to be consuming its last reserves of food. Bombardments have interrupted industrial life, and factory workers were said to be constructing new fortifications south and east of the city.

Religion New to Youths.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE FINNISH ARMY IN EASTERN KARELIA, Aug. 10.—More than 100 eastern Karelians assembled today for the first religious service held in this village, now occupied by the Finns, since it passed under soviet rule 20 years ago. Two pastors, one of the Lutheran faith and the other the Russian Orthodox, conducted the service.

Two companies of soldiers stood bareheaded as the Finnish flag was raised. Hymns were sung, prayers were offered, and then two short sermons were delivered.

The Karelians were men and women more than 55 years old and children less than 15. Only the old people knelt during the prayers. Younger persons approached the pastors after the service and inquired about the nature of religion.

All churches in Karelia were destroyed 20 years ago after the bolsheviks came to power in Russia.

5 AMERICA FIRST RALLIES LISTED; 3 ARE TONIGHT

While America First officials completed arrangements for an address by Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.] at an anti-war massmeeting Wednesday night in the Chicago Arena, five additional suburban rallies were announced yesterday by the America First speakers' bureau.

Three rallies will be held tonight. The Rev. C. W. Tedrahn, pastor of the Markham Evangelical church, will address a meeting sponsored by the Oak Park chapter of the America First committee at 736 Lake street in the suburb. The Rev. William H. Medler, pastor of the Hyde Park Lutheran church, will speak before the Evanston America First chapter at 908 Seward street in Evanston, and Miss Gertrude Coogan will address the Glen Ellyn chapter at 413 Main street, Glen Ellyn. All meetings will start at 8 p. m.

The Junior chapter of Park Ridge will hold its first anti-war rally at 8 p. m. Wednesday in the Park Ridge fieldhouse, Talcott road and Cumberland avenue. J. Benjamin Owens of Marquette university and John W. Masselter, Chicago attorney, will speak.

The Rev. John A. O'Brien, professor of law at the University of Notre Dame, will address a rally sponsored by the Arlington Heights chapter of the America First committee at 8 p. m. Friday in the New Park fieldhouse.

More than 8,000 persons are expected to hear Senator Nye Wednesday night. Gen. Robert E. Wood, national chairman of America First, will introduce him.

TURKS PROTEST AGAINST BRITISH THREAT TO IRAN

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Aug. 10 (AP).—Close upon the Turkish radio's declaration that "Iranian independence is a matter of close interest to Turkey," the Istanbul newspaper Comhuriyet said today that if Britain actually attacks Iran [Persia] "every heart in near east Turkey will be on the Iranian side."

The newspaper article stressed the bond of Islamism existing between Turkey and Iran. It said that British pressure on Iran constitutes intervention in Iranian affairs foreshadowing a possible attack.

RUSSIA ADMITS BATTLES RAGE IN 2 NEW SECTORS

Names Areas Where Nazis Claimed Gains.

MOSCOW, Aug. 11 [Monday]—(AP).—Stubborn fighting on two new and important sectors of the Leningrad front and the Ukraine was officially reported by soviet Russia today as the Red army told of throwing huge boulders and using old armored trains at some places in the battle against the invaders.

For the first time the soviet communique mentioned fighting in the Uman sector of the Ukraine, which the Germans said last Friday they already had passed.

[It was in the Uman area that the Germans claimed they destroyed two soviet armies and part of a third, inflicting 200,000 casualties and capturing 103,000 prisoners.]

On the Leningrad front, the Russians declared, the Red army was resisting at Soltsi, 120 miles due south of Leningrad and in the area where the Germans last week claimed gains.

Raid Moscow Again.

The German air force hammered again at Moscow during the night but the Russians said only individual planes broke thru the city's defenses. The raiders caused fires in dwelling houses and killed and wounded an unannounced number of persons. Five German planes were shot down, a Russian statement said.

On the old fronts—Smolensk in the center, Bel Tserkov in the Ukraine, and Kholm on the northwest—the Russians said they were putting up a stubborn fight. Bel Tserkov is between Uman and Kiev, capital of the Ukraine, and Kholm, previously mentioned as an area of heavy fighting, is about 75 miles southeast of Soltsi.

In the air, the Russians declared, the Red air force brought down 45 German aircraft at a cost of 25 Russian planes and disclosed that the final check of the German raid on Moscow Saturday night showed 10 German planes downed.

Stop Finns with Stones.

Front line dispatches said a Finnish infantry charge was smothered by an avalanche of boulders and that an armored train, such as those used in the revolution of 20 years ago, aided in recapturing a village. The stones, it was said, crushed two Finnish battalions. A crack German regiment also was reported routed on the Finnish front and a Nazi tank column smashed west of Moscow.

On the Estonian front a battalion of the Peoples' army was reported to have gone into action for the first time, routing a German unit by a flank attack. Two warships of the northern fleet, which operates in the Arctic ocean, shelled and destroyed two German land batteries, the Russians said.

RAF PLANES BOMB AXIS BASES FROM SICILY TO GREECE

Hit African Areas from Tripoli to Bardia.

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 10 (AP).—Heavy bombers of the royal air force ranged from Sicily to Greece and from Tripoli to Bardia and Bengazi in North Africa over the week-end, starting fires and explosions in axis held territory, a British communique said today.

Three large fires, accompanied by violent explosions, were started at Tripoli Saturday night in a raid on the dock area, and in Bardia there were explosions and fires after planes attacked a motor transport yard.

The railway sidings at Bengazi were hit and fires were observed after an attack on the port of Derna.

A number of aircraft were believed to have been destroyed at Elevsis airdrome near Athens.

Italians Claim Submarine.

ROME, Aug. 10 (AP).—The Italian high command today said British planes bombed the city of Corinth, Greece, and made repeated attacks on fortifications at Gondar, Ethiopia.

The communique also claimed the sinking of a British submarine in the central Mediterranean by an Italian torpedo boat.

Nazis Sink Ship at Suez.

BERLIN, Aug. 10 (AP).—The German high command today claimed that an 8,000 ton merchant ship had been sunk in the roadstead and a British light cruiser damaged in Friday night raids of the Nazi air force on the Suez canal zone.

VOW END OF DUCE'S NAVY

BY LARRY ALLEN.

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Aug. 10 (AP).—It matters not whether Mussolini's battered navy stays home or ventures out; Britain's Mediterranean fleet is bent upon blasting the last of Italy's warships from the waters Il Duce calls "our sea."

The British say, and arrivals here confirm, that allied convoys move thru Il Duce's self-proclaimed private lake, pouring vital war supplies into Malta and the middle east.

The backbone of Italy's battlefleet is broken. More than 50 per cent of her total naval striking power lies at the bottom of the Mediterranean or is out of commission.

These are my impressions after watching Britain's navy chase, catch and smash powerful units of the fast running Fascist fleet.

One of the British navy's biggest jobs now is to find an effective answer to attacks from the air—not from warships.

The recent passage of an important convoy thru the western Mediterranean, despite heavy air assaults, supplied fresh proof that the British are getting somewhere in this direction.

27 Japanese Planes Bomb Chungking Twice in a Day

CHUNGKING, China, Aug. 10 (AP).—Two waves of 27 Japanese planes bombarded Chungking and its suburbs today. One bomb hit the dugout of the Press inn.

STRITCH OPENS SERVICE CENTER AT WAUKEGAN

Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch dedicated the new Waukegan center of the National Catholic Community service for soldiers and sailors yesterday afternoon with a plea for the recognition of religion as the basis for freedom. He spoke informally to more than 1,000 persons.

"Without religion there can be nothing but a sham thing about the word freedom," Archbishop Stritch asserted. "No line can be drawn between morale and religion. What is morale? A soldier willing to face his God. That is morale!"

Civic and religious leaders, and officers from the Great Lakes Naval Training station and Fort Sheridan were on the speakers' platform. The Rev. Francis J. Shea of Waukegan, was in charge of the dedication ceremonies. The building, a four story structure in downtown Waukegan, will be in charge of William McNellis, former recreation director at Duluth and Minneapolis, Minn.

Illinois Youth Drowned After Fall from Canoe

Kenosha, Wis., Aug. 10 [Special].—Donald Hansen, 19, Park Ridge, Ill., who had been spending the summer at Twin Lakes, was drowned this morning. After working all night in a hamburger stand, he and Lawrence Drome, 18, Chicago, rented a canoe to go fishing. Hansen had a fainting spell and fell out of the canoe. Drome brought him ashore, but efforts to revive him failed.

6 BRITISH SHIPS SUNK, 28 PLANES DOWNED: NAZIS

BERLIN, Aug. 10 (AP).—Destruction of 37,000 tons of British ships by the air force and 28 RAF planes by air fighters and ground batteries since Friday was reported today by the Germans.

The high command said the sinkings included four freighters totaling 23,000 tons picked out of an Atlantic convoy off the English southeast coast last night, a 6,000 ton freighter sunk east of the Faroes in daylight hours, and an 8,000 ton merchantman in the Suez canal roadstead Friday night.

RAF "Steps Up" Day Raids.

LONDON, Aug. 10 (AP).—The RAF today attacked German shipping off the French coast and made several offensive sweeps over northern France. A supply ship was reported left aflame from two bomb hits, and a German fighting plane was shot down. Two British bombers and one fighter were lost.

Last night German planes raided the coastal areas of East Anglia and east Scotland, killing five persons in one Scotch town.

BRITISH ASK U. S. TO TAKE LEAD IN CURBING JAPS

Apply Pressure for Naval and Air Action.

away from the axis—to offer friendly collaboration with the world. But we can never do so at the price of our own security.

"Our policy then must be clear and firm. The Japanese must understand that the limits of their aggression, both north and south, have now been reached; that further moves will meet the united forces of the British, the Dutch, and the United States; that a Japanese seizure of Thailand in the east would be regarded in the same light as a German seizure of Dakar in the west—both integral parts of a grand encirclement of America—and that America will tolerate neither step in such direction."

Mr. McNutt said that such a policy is not only the safest for the United States but the one best calculated to prevent war with Japan. For Japan, he suggested, is not prepared economically or militarially for war with the major powers and will back down if convinced the United States is not bluffing.

Maverick Backs Stand.

Maury Maverick, former congressman from Texas and former mayor of San Antonio, supported McNutt with advocacy of a militant policy toward Japan.

"Fellow Americans, we must wake up," he declared. "We must be ready to fight for our rights everywhere in this wide world. Let's don't take any more off Japan."

Representative Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.] denounced Japan's "ruthless invasion of China" but denied that "Japan's aggressions have imperiled our security in America, no matter how bitterly we may condemn them."

"It is one thing," said Fish, "to denounce an aggressor nation like Japan and thru the use of economic weapons, such as embargoes on cotton, steel, and oil to influence and try to curb such aggressions, but an entirely different matter to resort to force and war.

"A war with Japan would be the height of folly, as we have nothing to gain and everything to lose. There is nothing we need from Japan, even if we won. We do not want any of her territory or possessions, and I doubt if she wants any of ours."

Fish said he approves the administration's economic embargoes on trade with Japan, recalling that he urged them for two years but unsuccessfully because of the opposition of the Roosevelt administration, which then was pursuing a policy of appeasement.

"From a supine policy of appeasement and supplying scrap iron and oil to one of dire threats of war," said Fish, "is typical of the bewildered foreign policies of the administration. We have now, too late, turned back to our interventionist and provocative policy of bluff and bluster, thereby driving Japan into the hands of Nazi Germany and probably forcing her into war against soviet Russia. Today we are once again launched on a program of policing and guaranteeing eastern Asia by threats of armed force.

"No one in America, outside of Secretary Stimson and a few fanatical warmakers, interventionists, and missionaries wants a suicidal war with Japan. It would be disastrous to both sides with nothing to gain by either one. I know of no reason to go to war against Japan unless she attacks the Philippines or any of our possessions, which she has no intention of doing.

"I am opposed to any European, Russian, African, or Asiatic war unless attacked. The cost is too high in lives and treasure. We would have lost the day we entered, altho we might be victorious in 10 or 20 years at the price of bankruptcy, ruin, loss of liberty, and millions of lives. In winning we would lose and the only victor would be communism abroad and despair, poverty, chaos, and maybe revolution at home."

Representative John M. Vorys [R., O.] argued that if we should make "our embargoes real and not paper" ones we could "stop Japan without firing a shot."

AUSTRALIA TO FIGHT IF ATTACKED, SAYS ENVOY CASEY HERE

Richard G. Casey.

Australia will fight if attacked, Richard G. Casey, Australian minister to the United States, said last night at Chicago airport, where he stopped briefly on his way to Des Moines, Ia.

Asked if the statement was directed toward Japan, Casey answered, "Don't say Japan.' Say the disturbing situation in the far east." He asserted Australia's policy always has been to keep war as far away from its shores as possible.

Casey, after two speeches in Des Moines, will return to Washington, D. C.

PREDICT JAPAN PLANS TO STAB RUSSIA IN BACK

LONDON, Aug. 11 [Monday] (AP).—The Daily Express political correspondent said today consultations were going on between Britain and America "based on the expectation that Japan will stab Russia in the back as soon as Germany's next big offensive has developed."

Authoritative sources, however, would not comment on the report of consultations nor on a report that a joint British-American statement on the far east was scheduled today.

"An attack against Russia's back door in Siberia rather than against British possessions on the Dutch East Indies is now expected to be Japan's major objective," said the Daily Express. "The axis plan concerted action in several directions and in some of these America will be deeply interested. Demands by the Nazis for the right to occupy the West African base of Dakar and other French possessions would vitally affect America's security as Mr. Roosevelt has already announced."

Mexico to Rebuild Railway Link Between Two Oceans

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 10 (AP).—The Mexican government announced tonight that as a precaution against the United States' entrance into the war it had decided to rebuild the antiquated railroad across the narrow Tehuantepec isthmus as a substitute Atlantic-Pacific trade artery for the Panama canal.

GREAT FAR EAST EVENTS VISIONED BY DUFF COOPER

Reaches U. S. on Way to Singapore Post.

New York, Aug. 10 (AP).—Alfred Duff Cooper, former British minister of information, declared on his arrival today aboard the Atlantic Clipper that his government expected "great developments in the far east" and that he was on a mission to Singapore to coördinate colonial administration.

The former cabinet minister, accompanied by his wife, Lady Diana Duff Cooper, and greeted by their 11 year old son, John Julius, said there was a tendency among the British people to believe that the war has been won.

Comments on Jap Situation.

Rising optimism was evident everywhere, he asserted, but added that the people "should not forget that their greatest danger lies in the submarine menace and in Hitler's efforts to starve England out."

He expressed belief that the reaction of the Japanese government to "the strong measures taken by the governments of Great Britain and the United States as the result of Japan's intrusion into Indo-China" had shown "a distinctly steadying and healthy effect."

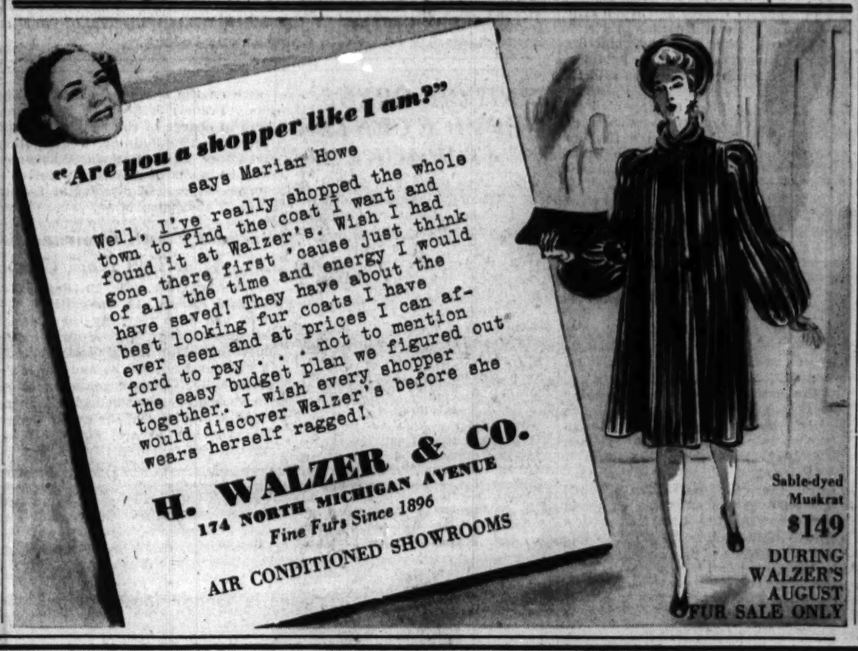
Some of Duff Cooper's remarks at the airport were broadcast after he had listened to a shortwave broadcast of a speech by Queen Elizabeth.

Referring to what he described as rumors in the United States that full use was not being made of lend-lease material, he declared that "we are now getting the full flow of American production and the materials—all of first rate quality—have all been utilized and are playing a tremendous part" in Britain's war program.

Plans to Visit Capital.

Duff Cooper said he would remain in the United States about two weeks and would go to Washington in the near future. From there he will fly to San Francisco and then to the orient.

The Atlantic and American Clippers, which docked at the city seaplane base only two hours apart, carried a record total of 97 passengers, 51 from Europe and the others from Bermuda.



"Are you a shopper like I am?"
says Marian Howe
Well, I've really shopped the whole town to find the coat I want and found it at Walzer's. Wish I had gone there first 'cause just think of all the time and energy I would have saved! They have about the best looking fur coats I have ever seen and at prices I can afford to pay . . . not to mention the easy budget plan we figured out together. I wish every shopper would discover Walzer's before she wears herself ragged!

CALL FOR PEACE NOW, ROOSEVELT URGED BY CUDAHY

Time Is Ripe, Declares Former Envoy.

us out of war. . . . On the eve of election he used these words:

"'While I am talking to you, fathers and mothers, I give you one more assurance. I have said this before, but I say it again, and again and again. Your boys are not going to be sent into any foreign wars.'

"The fathers and mothers of America believed these words of President Roosevelt. They trusted him. Upon this assurance of peace, they elected him. I am certain President Roosevelt will never forget that promise. I believe he intends to keep that promise.

Urges People to Keep Their Heads.

"I believe he can and will keep that promise if you, the people, will keep your heads; if you will stand by him against the war party, if you will but counsel and sustain him in the cause of peace. That promise, reiterated and deliberately uttered, was not just a bit of campaign oratory, it was an open covenant, openly arrived at. If such a solemn pledge, such a sacred undertaking, can be violated or ignored, democracy is a joke, elections are a joke, and never again are the American people going to believe that candidates' promises are anything but a joke and a bit of campaign oratory.

What Had Gone Before.

"They say conditions have changed since the election and what was promised then is not binding now. What has changed? Poland, Norway, the Low Countries, France, and the Maginot line all had fallen when we chose our President last fall; the British had been smashed in Flanders; Germany had moved in on the Atlantic seaboard and become our neighbor, and England was fighting for her life with a heroism which will forever be the inspiration of free men.

"On this issue of war and peace, the country was as united last fall as it is disunited today. Elect me, office seekers said to the fathers and mothers of America, and your boys will never be sent to fight or be killed on any foreign battlefield. What has become of those promises? Where are the men who made those promises? When we have another election the people will want to know about those promises to keep us out of this war of Europe, and the men who made them.

Issues of the Conflict.

"Tell me, what are the principles and what is the issue of ideology in this conflict of Europe? Some thought the war was a clash between the three totalitarian states—Germany, Italy, and Japan — and the communism of Russia. Then Germany formed a coöperative treaty with Russia, and Poland was again partitioned between these two conspirators. Two years later, Germans and Russians, locked in mortal combat, are drenching red the Ukrainian plains and the marshes of the Pripet, and now Polish soldiers are fighting on the side of their country's despoiler.

"A little more than two years ago our sympathy and support went out to heroic little Finland. Now we have espoused the Red despotism of Russia against the same Finns. . . .

"Some say we have a moral duty to declare war, if we do nothing else but make the declaration. And there are interventionists who maintain that intervention does not mean a costly, bloody struggle—only the sending of the fleet to convoy supplies to England with minor naval engagements far off from our own shores; a comfortable, easy going war with business as usual; a limited war which would disturb no one—too much.

"Americans, Americans, do not be deceived, Americans. There is no such thing as a limited war. If you examine the congressional debates before we entered the war in 1917, you will read the same sophistry, the same deceptions. . . . If we enter this war, we commit the prestige of our nation and we must go on and on with no halt, no balk, until complete victory is won by American arms. . . .

"If we are to enter this war, let us face the facts, with a realization that 2 million men will be lost, and that the shadow of that sacrifice will fall upon every home in this land.

"Defeatists say we are already in the war, it is too late, nothing can be done now. It is not too late. Only congress has the power to declare war under the constitution, and congress has not yet made that declaration. If this is a government of the people, the people are the power of the congress. Let the people decide whether or not this war of Europe shall become our war. . . .

"They ask us, the war party, to go out blindly into the night of a war whereof no one knows the end. What would be our war aims? What are the war aims of Hitler and Churchill, these two men who in a desperate duel gambled the destinies of the world? Let us insist that Hitler and Churchill define the objectives of this war of Europe in which we are asked to commit the lives and fortunes of 130 million Americans."

LA FOLLETTE'S PLEA: STAND ON OUR OWN FEET

America's first interest in the postwar world is to see that she can stand on her own feet, former Gov. Philip F. La Follette of Wisconsin said yesterday as a speaker on the Northwestern Reviewing Stand, heard over W-G-N.

"All this talk about Union Now and pulling down the American flag, I am flat-footedly against," La Follette said.

La Follette participated with Dr. William H. Kilpatrick, visiting professor of education at Northwestern university, in a discussion of America's responsibility in the postwar world.

La Follette "dissented vigorously" from Dr. Kilpatrick's opinion that a stalemate of the European war would mean that each nation would continue to arm for the day when the war would be resumed, forcing America to maintain an "armed camp."

FORT CUSTER HAS A GET TOGETHER WITH RELATIVES

More than 500 parents and other relatives visited their soldier kin of the 184th field artillery and 94th combat engineers, Negro units, at Fort Custer, Mich., yesterday.

A regimental parade, led by Col. Anderson F. Pitts, was held in their honor. The day's program provided a grand get-together for soldiers and relatives.

The Chicagoans took magazines, candies, and other gifts to the soldiers. The biggest gift, however, was a collection of 17 pianos, one for each of the recreation rooms of the two units.

THE TRIBUNE'S PLATFORM FOR ILLINOIS AND CHICAGO

Save Our Republic

INCREDIBLE.

Secretary Henry Morgenthau of the treasury department asked the senate finance committee to add 800 million dollars to the new taxes. The house sent the senate a bill to raise 3,200 million dollars additional revenue. Mr. Morgenthau thinks that should be boosted and that part of the new take should be obtained by taxing lower incomes than are touched by the house bill. He would like to increase the number of income tax payers from 7½ million to 13 million. He would do this by lowering the exemptions.

Congressmen don't like to increase the number of taxpayers by collecting from the wage earners and small income groups, not because they have any particular tenderness for the taxed people or any great regard for another fellow's dollar wherever it can be found but because they think it is politically inadvisable to make the mass of the people tax conscious. It's not bad politics to soak the minority and pretend to confer benefits upon the majority, but it's bad political business to sock directly the mass of the population with tax bills.

By others it can be argued that a wide base of taxation is desirable as a check upon governmental recklessness. The citizen who doesn't think it is his money that is flowing out of the treasury may not have very much interest in the expenditures. While Mr. Morgenthau was explaining the imperative needs for more money from the taxpayer, the house rivers and harbors committee was at work on the cash box.

The committee has approved what is described as a colossal omnibus river and harbor pork barrel bill, into which have been thrown authorizations for the 285 million dollar St. Lawrence seaway and for the 200 million dollar Florida ship canal. The Florida business, which has been denounced ever since it was first suggested, was chucked in to get votes for the St. Lawrence project. With all the pork items included in the authorizations, the bill will come to a billion dollars and break all records for things of its kind.

Representative Leonard W. Hall, Republican of New York, said that the bill was an economic monstrosity. At a time when the country is putting the severest strain of its history upon its economic resources, is over its head in debt, and is looking everywhere for money, these indefensible expenditures are piled upon the necessary ones.

The government is preaching the doctrine of the self-denying life to the people. They are told that they cannot expect to do the many things they have done heretofore. They must make sacrifices. They must do without this and that and they must expect their burdens to become heavier each year. And the preachers of this self-denying ordinance not only refuse to cut expenditures where they could be cut but find new ways in which to waste the money taken from the people who earn it.

These aren't merely paradoxes, inconsistencies, and incongruities; they are reckless and unconscionable crimes against the stability of the country and the welfare of its people.

ARTIFICIAL SHORTAGES.

The system of priorities is intended to assure armament makers a steady flow of the needed raw materials and to divide the remaining supplies fairly among civilian industries.

The problem is a difficult one, but the difficulties can be exaggerated. A great many people have come to believe that almost all of the production of metals, chemicals, fabrics, etc., will be needed for the arms program. That is not true; it is not even nearly true. There are very few materials which are so scarce that the armament makers will absorb the whole supply and there are many materials which are so plentiful in comparison to the armament demand that the adjustment should be comparatively easy. Of the common steels, for example, the probability is that not more than a fourth of the available supply will be required for war materials of all sorts, including the shipbuilding programs and lease-lend exports.

Nevertheless, a most elaborate system of allotments is being set up, which can hardly fail to hamper business and industry needlessly. Small business is particularly vulnerable. Many of the big corporations have their permanent representation in Washington; the little fellows cannot afford the expense. The result is that many of them are being pushed to the wall for lack of materials, their organizations are being disrupted, and their customers are forced to look elsewhere for goods. Spokesmen for little business have repeatedly complained, but there is little evidence to show that the complaints have received serious attention.

The priority rules seem to offer a fair share of materials to the little fellows, but it is difficult to believe that in practice any such result will be attained. They have little influence and have had no opportunity to cultivate influential friends in Washington.

For many reasons the New Dealers have never liked small and middle-sized business. The little fellows are hard to handle. They are independent, as they showed when they kicked over the traces at the conferences in Washington a few years ago. The collectivists in the administration feel more kindly toward the industrial giants. The bigger they grow, the more the government will get when it nationalizes them.

Accordingly, the New Dealers are no doubt delighted with the operations of the priority system. The strangling of the little fellows occasions no regrets in the inner circle. If the system appears to be cumbersome and clumsy, no steps are taken to correct it. Any incompetents who may be in positions of authority in the priorities administration continue in authority. Indifference or hostility to the needs of small manufacturers is not rebuked.

It's a good guess that the misuse of dictatorial powers in Washington is causing more shortages in this country than can be fairly attributed to the diversion of materials to war production.

ENGLAND'S NEW POOR.

Allan Nevins, professor of American history at Columbia and 1941 Harmsworth professor at Oxford, has written several articles on "This Is England Today." They were published in the New York Sun. He says that the British character still reveals the strength it has shown for centuries past and that many British ways are preserved with extraordinary tenacity. "But economically, socially, intellectually, and even governmentally, Britain is undergoing a profound transformation."

A part of the transformation noted by Mr. Nevins is the impoverishment of the middle class. His picture is one of a disappearing race and it may be a preview of what will happen here as the consequence of involvement in the disaster of a modern war. There is less working class poverty in England now than for years past and the improvement in some blighted districts Mr. Nevins describes as marvelous.

Nearly four million acres of grass have been plowed up and seeded. "Rural England never looked better kept or more productive." Elsewhere there are evidences of neglect enforced by the lack of materials—no paint, no repairs. There has been a shift of population such as England never before knew, partly because of military service, partly caused by the industrial redistribution, and partly due to the evacuation from dangerous areas. "The social effects of this dispersion and resettlement of the population will be enormous."

The victims of the war are found, as has been remarked, among the formerly well-to-do people whose existence depended upon industries, trades, and occupations which have disappeared. The country "has an enormous mass of newly emerged middle class poverty. A multitude of once well-to-do folk have been reduced first to the level of the shabby genteel and then to that of the genteel impoverished."

Such a phenomenon may very well foretell a profound economic and social transformation, the boundaries of which are now indistinguishable. The new poor, the newly impoverished, of England are the class which has been the stabilizing influence in countries which sustain free enterprise and representative government. It has been the check on extreme movements whether they came from above or below. Its persistence has been required as an equalizer.

These people may recover when England is at peace again, but postwar conditions will be against them. What has happened to them in Britain will happen to the people like them here. Indeed, it is already threatened in the economic and political policies of our government.

A BRITISH FIRM ADVERTISES IT HAS ALUMINUM FOR EXPORT.

[Export Trade and Shipper, New York.]

While thumbing over the June, 1941, issue of the British Export Gazette, a 50 year old London published monthly which describes itself as an "international trade journal for overseas shippers, merchants, importers, and exporters," we came across a full page advertisment which brought our thoughts back to the charges recently made in the New York Times that articles or materials being lend-leased to Britain were finding their way to foreign markets in competition with American exporters. This charge, as all readers of last week's issue of this publication know, was challenged by Sir Kenneth Lee, the newly appointed American representative of the industrial and export council of the British Board of Trade.

In view of these charges and their reactions we were more than ordinarily interested in this advertisment. The top third consisted of a photographic reproduction of a British convoy of merchant ships on the high seas, anti-aircraft guns prominently displayed on a guardian warship's deck. The bold heading of "Constant Vigilance" was followed by: "The best British goods have been delivered in the past. The best British goods will be delivered in the future, but most important, the best British goods can be delivered now." This last argument was in full capitals.

The most interesting part of the advertisment, in view of the debate between the Times and Sir Kenneth, followed: "Send your orders for—paper and rubber, insulated cables and wires, joint boxes, street pillars, cutouts, electricity meters, static condensers, wireless condensers, overhead equipment for railways, tramways, light and power; copper and aluminium [sic: the British for aluminum] wires, strands, sheets and sections; electric welders, magnetic moulding machines, paper pinions, cotton and silk covered wires, enameled wires, wiring systems, flexibles, solder and soldering pastes."

The advertisment was signed by the British Insulated Cables, Ltd., Head Office, Prescot, Lancs., England. Just above this signature was the line: "The British Navy Is the Guarantee of Delivery."

The special points of interest of this advertisment, as we see them, is the date of publication, June, 1941, which is three months after the signing of the American lease-lend act; the kinds of basic materials which enter into the manufacture of the articles advertised, particularly aluminum, which every good American housewife is stripping from her kitchen to supply an essential part of the airplanes being built in this country for Britain; and the fact that the advertisment is addressed to overseas buyers everywhere who can read English.

Sir Kenneth said in his answer to the press that "as the lend-lease act was passed only in March it has not been in effect long enough for any such reëxport of lend-lease materials to have been made, or for any such replacement to have occurred on any considerable scale." Granting that point, at least for sake of making another, wouldn't it be more pal-like if Britain were to send any aluminum she does not need for home uses to our airplane manufacturers before America's kitchens are entirely denuded of cherished cooking utensils?

In this way England could build up her stock of dollar exchange here, which Sir Kenneth said is imperative. Moreover, the aluminum would be returned promptly in the form of war supplies and faster than any other country could supply it.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

TO START A NEW WEEK.

The late Rabindranath Tagore, India's international poet, visited Chicago often and many citizens have seen him walking the Boule Mich in Hindu costume, which he invariably wore, every inch an oriental sage. The Chicago magazine called Poetry did much to popularize his work among American readers, and members of the town's literary salons often sat at his feet, harkening to his words of gentle, mystical wisdom.

During his Chicago stays Tagore was usually a guest of Mrs. William Vaughn Moody in her ivory tower for higher thinkers at 2970 Groveland [now Ellis] avenue. The old mansion is still there. It has more literary associations than any other house in Chicago, altho the present lodgers are probably unaware of its former greatness.

(Time out to run to a fire. A mystery for 15 minutes; firemen scouting around at midnight to find what was causing the smoke screen. Discovered at last: a brush fire in a railway trench. . . . Where did all the bystanders come from? . . . Swell fire apparatus here in Evanston. . . . All quiet now on the suburban front.)

H. L. Mencken's account of his experiences in reporting the Baltimore fire of 1904, printed some weeks back in the New Yorker, was a classic of newspaper lore. Old Marse Henry, the Sage of Maryland, is apparently hatching up another book of memoirs to equal his "Happy Days."

* * *

We saw two extensive prairie fires on our recent explorations of the west, in desert regions of Nevada and Utah. Fortunately they had nothing to feed on but sagebrush and cactus, and the landscape didn't seem to mind the extra heat.

* * *

Between the acts of the opening performance of "Charley's Aunt" at the Studebaker, fire apparatus roared southward along Michigan avenue like a panzer division. A first-night wag stepped off the curb and went thru the pantomime of a hitch-hiker trying to thumb a ride.

TRIBUTE TO A NURSE.

(For Wilma Shelley.)

In noonday heat, and thru long nights of dread,
Her ear is tuned to catch the feeble moan
That ever calls her to the fevered bed
Of one that was but late to her unknown.
How strong and yet how gentle are her hands
That bring unfailing aid and quell alarm,
While eager love, distracted, helpless stands,
Or, blundering, would do less good than harm.
She ministers both to the sick and well;
She scorns to utter futile words of cheer,
And yet her steady calm serves to dispel
From anguished bosoms all hysteric fear.
And when at last grief-twisted lips would sob
Their thanks for easing pain-filled final days
Of one held dear, she answers: "It's my job!"
Her job! Do God's own angels ask for praise?

Prima Donna in the Gallery.

With all this talk about the closing of the Auditorium, a thousand memories of this famous old house, mostly concerned with the palmy days of Chicago opera, come to mind. There was that night when Rosa Raisa expressed the desire to hear an opera, strictly incognito, from the topmost gallery. But it must be arranged quietly. She would sit unknown among those who loved music so well they would climb to endless heights to hear it. She donned inconspicuous clothes; she made the long climb; she sat on a bench; she heard the first act of "Rigoletto."

Then the lights were turned on and a little Jewish girl in the front row gazed about her. Her dress betrayed the fact that she had come from the ghetto. In her hand she clutched a little bouquet of sweet peas bought at a street stand for 15 cents. Suddenly her eyes fell upon Raisa. She recognized the diva. Impulsively she jumped to her feet.

"Raisa!" she exclaimed in a voice loud enough to be heard even down in the orchestra seats. "Rosa Raisa!" Then came a flood of Russian, for Raisa herself was Russian and Jewish. The girl made her way to where the prima donna sat. She extended her little bouquet with a hand that trembled with emotion. Raisa accepted the flowers, stammered her thanks in Russian, or perhaps it was Yiddish, and her admirer went back to her own seat.

Next morning the story made the first page of a Chicago newspaper and it was a great story. It was filled to the brim with that good old hokum to which newspaper men politely refer as human interest. Its details were correct, too, for it had been written by the humble little girl from the ghetto who had recognized Raisa.

She was there for that very purpose at the instigation of Rufus Dewey, press agent, who had tried long but unsuccessfully to get Raisa to coöperate in a publicity stunt. The little girl might have come from the ghetto originally, but she was one of the keenest newspaper reporters in Chicago. Raisa never knew what had happened except that a dear little girl had paid her a great tribute.

On Indiana's verdant plains,
Beneath a sky serene and clear,
There nestles mid the fruits and grains
The lovely town of Rensselaer.

HAY FEVER IS "ON THE AIR."

DURING the growing season when shrubs, trees, and many forms of plant life burst into bloom, countless tons of pollen are produced. The tiny granules are required for fertilization, otherwise seeds will not form. Much of the food which we consume—corn, wheat, oats, etc. — depends upon this wise provision of nature. Field crops will be abundant if weather conditions are suitable when flowering occurs. But these tiny particles [pollen cells] are light and fluffy, and while they will finally settle to the earth as dust, nevertheless they may be carried long distances by favorable winds. Furthermore they exist in great profusion.

Our immediate interest in their presence arises because they are breathed into the nasal passages where they may set up a type of irritation which is called hay fever. As many can testify, this is one of our most annoying maladies. Beginning in March, maples and box elders inaugurate their vicious rôles. Then come birches, poplars, willows, elms, oaks, and the early June grasses. Plantain produces a crop early in June while alfalfa and clover follow in rapid sequence and persist until September. Pigweed is also an offender, as is Russian thistle. But in many localities ragweed, which ranges from Texas to the Canadian border, begins early in August and exhibits its annoying tendencies until early October. The season reaches its height about September 1, altho many a sufferer will be obliged to depart from "thence to whence" about August 15.

Some patients will note that their difficulties will increase season by season until it becomes almost impossible to exist in comfort in the home environment. This means that "sensitivity" is increasing year by year, or possibly that the victim is becoming more and more susceptible to a larger number of irritants. For example, if one responds to ragweed at a given period he may react later to a half dozen other offenders.

Yes! hay fever is with us and will continue until the battle of the weeds is won. When public opinion becomes thoroly aroused we will remove these eyesores and "nose weepers." We should regard the soil as too precious to be devoted to their propagation. While laws cannot take the place of an aroused public opinion, evidence is accumulating that communities can be rendered practically free from this universal ailment thru weed eradication.

One reason why we wish to avoid the disorder is because it weakens reserve and destroys a goodly portion of the benefit which should come to each of us from the summer season. The victim is so miserable, so blearyeyed, so drippy and blowy, that business as usual is out of the question.

Of course, there are some fairly successful means of escape. One can take a sea voyage, journey to a "free" area, or establish a dustproof room at home and at the office. In addition, if refrigeration is available, with washed air, so much the better. Cotton filters between layers of screen cloth can be placed in a window and a boxed-in 10 inch fan will provide adequate ventilation. A half inch absorbent layer will filter out 99 per cent of the pollen.

Physicians have found ways and means of desensitizing or vaccinating against special offenders and local remedies, such as adrenalin, will give temporary relief. But once the habit has become established, the sufferer may be susceptible to one type after another until a month or two of each year will be sacrificed to a miserable malady.

The least we can do is to arrange for perfectly clean dustproof sleeping quarters. All carpets, drapes, wool blankets, etc., may be removed. No clothing is hung within the space and daily scrubbing of the floor is essential for the eradication of dust. If a simple window air strainer can be installed [several types are on the market] a satisfactory night's sleep should ensue.

Finally we can mow vegetation in the neighborhood and encourage our friends to do likewise. The only trouble with this plan lies in the fact that a single vacant lot may produce enough pollen to disturb the dwellers in a square mile.

FACIAL NEURALGIA.

O. W. writes: For years I have had mild attacks of facial neuralgia. Now they seem to be getting worse. Is there any way to prevent this condition from progressing, besides injections of alcohol and surgery?

REPLY.

Hot packs, large doses of vitamin B, and building the general health to par should be considered. Avoid exposure, such as cold drafts, on the affected side. The inhalation of a small quantity of trichlorethylene, as prescribed by your physician, may be of value. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on this ailment.

WET HEAD.

Mrs. J. H. writes: Will sleeping on a wet head cause asthma?

REPLY.

Most of us prefer a pillow. If your locks are dripping, and you are exposed to a draft, a nice summer cold is in prospect. Asthma is a manifestation of sensitivity. If you allow bacteria to get well started in your nasal passages, because of this practice, you may develop symptoms of allergy.

BUCK TOOTHED.

B. writes: I am handsome except for two front teeth that are buck. I have been thinking of bumping into a stone wall to lose those annoying ivories, and replacing them with pivots. Would I then be completely handsome?

REPLY.

TUNING DOWN AT 10 P. M.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—Why not settle this question of radio blasting once and for all?

Have the Chicago radio stations follow the system that several southern states have. That is, when 10 p. m. arrives, the announcer says:

"It is time to tune down your radios, as it is 10 o'clock in Chicago, and some one may be trying to sleep or may be ill."

If a radio is reported still too loud then it is time for the law to fine that person.

Yours for less noise in Chicago.

COLORED PEOPLE PROTEST.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—You recently stated that 69,633 colored enlisted men and officers are now serving in the United States army and soon this number will be boosted to 92,846. The colored people of the United States are always willing to answer the call of this, their government, and we try to agree when officials say that Hitler is a tyrant and hater of colored people, but in our hearts we have this one thought: Were there as many colored people in Germany as there are in the United States, would Hitler allow colored people to be discriminated against on national defense projects as they are now, here in America?

Mr. Roosevelt issued an order prohibiting discrimination against colored people on national defense projects and yet, out of the 25 projects the John Brown Organization of America visited, we found they are not employing colored Americans. Upon approach, the operating managers say to us with a sweet lie, "We are going to employ colored people shortly," etc.

W. THOMAS SODERS.
President John Brown Organization of America, Inc. [57,000 members in Chicago].

BRITISH TAKE HOLLYWOOD.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—It seems that the British have now taken over Hollywood. A lot of the motion pictures are depicting the English as a swell bunch of people—ordinary guys like Americans. For instance, one scene in a certain picture shows a couple of pilots, an American and a Britisher, slapping each other's back and exchanging mutual affection. One says to the other, "We speak the same language." [Isn't that sweet?]

Other pictures, especially those dealing with Lord Nelson [there's one every week], indicate that for centuries the British have been the defenders of the oppressed and weak nations. They're always in the right and everybody else is the villain.

Yes, "there'll always be an England"—so long as there are others to do their fighting.

STEPHEN TEDOR.

"KEEP UP THE GOOD WORK!"

Chicago, Aug. 7.—Congratulations on your clear-cut editorial this morning, "Fifteen Who Speak for America." More power to you in your efforts to uphold the constitution, to maintain the position of congress, and to subdue the noisy minority that keeps clamoring for war.

In behalf of the youth of America and the 80 per cent who want no war, keep up your good work.

WENDELL S. BROOKS.

THE COST OF PEACHES HERE.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—Mrs. C. M. Clark wonders in a V. P. letter why, when peaches are sold for 65 cents a bushel in Georgia orchards, the lowest prices she could find in Elmhurst grocery stores were from $1.50 to $1.59. Perhaps the following actual costs may help Mrs. Clark and other housewives to understand that nobody is getting rich at the prices she is asked to pay:

Price per bushel in Georgia	$ .65
Freight per bushel to Chicago	.64
Cartage from car door to wholesaler	.07
Cartage from wholesaler to Elmhurst	.10
Retailer's average spoilage at 5 per cent	.05
	$1.51

Therefore, if Mrs. Clark had bought the $1.50 peaches, the wholesaler and retailer would have had a 1 cent loss to divide. At $1.59, they would have had a gross profit of 8 cents between them. According to government statistics, it costs at least 65 cents to grow, harvest, grade, pack, and load a bushel of peaches. At 65 cents in Georgia, the farmer is just breaking even.

A bushel basket will produce 20 quarts of home canned peaches. At $1.59 for fruit, 24 cents for sugar, and 10 cents more for rubber rings, etc, the 20 quarts would cost not more than $1.93. The same quantity of factory canned peaches in medium syrup would cost $4.18. Therefore, Mrs. Clark would have saved $2.25 by buying a basket of peaches at $1.59 and canning them herself.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 8.—Having had the misfortune to stumble on your issue of Aug. 7, a relative having brought it in with him from your city, I note with interest that according to your weak and insipid editorials, you are on the side of the Wheelers, Nyes, in fact all the boys that are doing their mite to pull solidly for Hitler instead of being solidly behind our own government in a critical time such as this.

COTTON STOCKINGS.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—I wish to inform Ralph M. Evans that the cotton stocking manufacturers are doing something about the present so-called "crisis" in the silk industry today. In fact, they have been doing something for the last 20 years or so. Great progress has been made in this field by scientists, a number of these men under government supervision.

There need be no fear that American women will go barelegged or revert to cotton lisle hose these coming months. Manufacturers can now produce a stocking of cotton that is as sheer as a one or two thread silk hose [or Nylon]. They are lovely enough to adorn the limbs of any American woman from any walk in life.

Another interesting angle of this is that the same machines [and workers] may be used, exclusively, for these cotton "sheers" as were used for the silk hose manufacturing.

There is no need whatsoever for the "Joneses" to promenade at all! Sorry, old fellow!

FROM A WHITE COLLAR MAN.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—Regarding the controversy between the railroads and the unions over workers' wages, let me state my views. I am a railroad employé with 18 years' seniority, in the class known as a white collar man. My salary is just a few cents over $5 a day. And there are few in this department making $6 a day. We work six days a week, eight hours a day, and are paid time and a half for all legal holidays and overtime.

When we try to get a raise there is no consideration shown. The railroads did not even make an offer. With that salary we must feed and clothe our families; pay the rent and try and have a little fun out of life. But with the cost of living increasing every day just what are we to do?

But we white collar men will get by some way. We have for years. And to you younger men I say, stay away from the railroads unless you are a fare paying passenger.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 7.—A three day canvass by the Dodge City Globe last week showed a total vote of 865 to 20 against war and meddling in foreign affairs. JOINT OWNERSHIP.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A built and furnished and paid for a summer home in Wisconsin. A also planted trees and paid for other improvements on this property.

1. Later A went into joint tenancy with B. B paid no money for his half. A paid all taxes for the first 10 years. The last six years A has not paid taxes or for any other expenses, but B has taken care of this all six years.

2. What claim has B on this property?

3. How long does B have to pay taxes before he has a claim other than his original half?

L. N.

1. Do you mean that A conveyed the property to a third party who conveyed back to A and B by a joint tenancy deed? If so, we see no reason why the gift to B should not be binding.

2. Clearly he has an undivided one-half interest. The question whether he also has a claim for reimbursement depends on the understanding at the time of the conveyance to him and at the time of his tax payments.

3. In general, mere tax payments, no matter how long continued, would not give an adverse title as against a co-owner.

1. Which one of these is not subject to a chattel mortgage?

2. What would most likely be found in a calaboose?
Brakeman Gourd seeds Conductor Thieves.

5. Which one of the following words is misspelled?
Inate Inane Irate Inept.
6. Punctuation marks, such as commas, semicolons, and periods, are almost as essential in the transmission of ideas from one mind to another as are the 26 letters in our alphabet. The same sentences can describe an angel or a devil, depending solely on the way they are punctuated. Laws and wills, scientific formulæ, and military orders can often produce radically different effects if they are punctuated in various ways. Try to delineate a good man below, and then picture a bad man, simply by the manner in which you punctuate the following paragraph:

"He is a very old man and experienced in vice and wickedness he is never found in opposing the works of iniquity he takes delight in the downfall of his neighbors he never rejoices in the prosperity of his fellow men he is always ready to assist in destroying the peace of society he takes no pleasure in serving the Lord he is uncommonly diligent in sowing discord among his friends and acquaintances he takes no pride in laboring to promote the cause of Christianity he has not been negligent in endeavoring to stigmatize all public teachers he makes no effort to subdue his evil passions he strives hard to build up Satan's kingdom he lends no aid to the support of the gospel among the heathen he contributes largely to the devil he will never go to heaven he must go where he will receive the just recompense of reward."

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

HE'S JUST GOOD TIME FELLOW IN A CLERICAL POSE

Parties Were So Nice, but Police Intervene.

Edward Dybel.

The merriest guest at many a Chicago wedding party in the last few days has been a twinkling eyed handsome young man in somber ministerial garb. He was the first to kiss the bride, the bridesmaids, their sisters, and their friends. He was the first to get to the punchbowl, and sometimes the last to leave.

If he had no invitation, and no one knew him, it never bothered him. He was an informal guest you could call "Rev." if you liked. And he'd slap you on the back and call you Charlie, no matter what your name might be.

Attends Other Parties, Too.

He was 6 feet tall, and beaming. The other guests just couldn't resist asking him about his work. He could not deny that he could use a few dollars for some of his poor, and the guests persuaded him to take gifts over his smiling protest.

Brides and bridegrooms weren't the only ones whose parties he honored. He went to christening parties, too.

And so Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Pancer of 8917 Bennett avenue blushed and hesitated Saturday night at their wedding party in a hall at 8800 Escanaba avenue. They'd given their word, tho; so they telephoned Detectives Thomas Flynn and George O'Brien of the South Chicago police that they had a charming if uninvited guest.

The detectives hurried over to welcome him. But he did the welcoming, made them feel at home. He was so gracious that they hesitated themselves at getting down to business. They finally found the courage to ask him where his church was, and that's when he got a trifle vague.

Much as he was enjoying the party, he finally agreed to accompany them to the station, where they asked him the names of his relatives. He mentioned a cousin.

And So He Confesses.

They telephoned the cousin to ask him if he had a relative named the Rev. Mr. Edward Dybel, living at 2428 White Oak avenue, Whiting, who is 24 years old.

"Ed Dybel's my cousin." the relative said. "But he's no minister. No, sir. Some one's spoofing you. He works in a tank factory."

The wedding guest then confessed that he is no minister. He said he liked to go to parties, and so he borrowed the minister's suit without asking the owner. But he denied, emphatically, that he is the ministerial wedding guest who has been accepting gifts.

"I just went to the parties for fun," he said.

"I got fired Wednesday as a tank inspector in a Whiting factory and I was afraid to go home to mother. I knew she would be mad. I got the idea that it would be fun to try my hand at being a clergyman, so I started out. But look at me now."

WOMAN KILLED, 4 INJURED IN AUTO COLLISION

Miss Ruth Doermann, 29 years old, 2554 Grove avenue, Blue Island, a stenographer, died in the South End hospital last night of injuries suffered shortly before when a car in which she was riding collided with another driven by John Dzik, 18, of 11813 Morgan street, a truckdriver. The accident occurred at Vermont street and Pierce avenue.

Miss Freda Vohs, 31, of 13112 Hoyne avenue, Blue Island, driving the car in which Miss Doermann was a passenger, was injured as were Walter Glowacki, 17, of 11829 Morgan street and Violet Madison, 15, of 910 West 119th street, riding in the other car, and Dzik. Miss Vohs was taken to St. Francis hospital, Blue Island, the others to the South End hospital.

Mrs. Grace Lynch, 30, of 218 Pine avenue, died in Loretto hospital yesterday of injuries suffered Saturday night when she was struck by one of two cars which had just collided. Mrs. Lynch, a telephone operator, was standing on the sidewalk at Central avenue and Washington boulevard at the time of the accident. A car driven by Andrew MacKenzie, 52, of 1538 Jackson boulevard, a salesman, struck Mrs. Lynch after colliding with one driven by Michael J. Carmody, 66, of 5504 Monroe street.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 561 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 397 were killed in Chicago, where 14,808 were injured in the same period.

TWO INJURED IN FIGHT.

Walter Snyder, 33 years old, 2953 Warren boulevard, a machinist, was stabbed in the abdomen last night by Modesto Gonzeles, 38, of 1312 North Leavitt street, a laborer, in a fight over a near collision of their cars.

COL. M'CORMICK AND BROOKS TO SPEAK AT PICNIC

Former Congressman Oscar DePriest announced yesterday that Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, and United States Senator Wayland Brooks will speak next Saturday at one of the largest Republican picnics of the season.

It will be held in Dan Ryan woods of the county forest preserve at 87th street and Western avenue. The participants will include the colored ward organizations and colored groups of eight south side wards.

Favor "Defense First."

"This is the seventh year that colored Republicans from the south side wards have joined in this outing and demonstration," said DePriest, "and because of national and international conditions it will have unprecedented significance.

"The colored voters favor defense but they favor defense first and not the sacrifice of defense for the purpose of all-out aid to some other nation. If the present tendency continues they will all return to the Republican party where they naturally belong."

The former congressman probably will introduce Col. McCormick, who is scheduled to speak at 4 o'clock. His son, O. Stanton DePriest, and Alva L. Bates, assistant attorney general of Illinois, are expected to present other speakers.

Games and Contests.

The picnic will start at 10 a. m. and will continue into the evening. Sandwiches and other refreshments will be free; there will be games and contests, and a program of music.

In addition to DePriest, the leaders sponsoring the affair include former State Senator William E. King, committeeman of the 3d ward; State Representatives Charles J. Jenkins, Ernest A. Green, and Dudley W. Martin; Attorney Euclid L. Taylor, recently elected president of the National Bar association, and Mrs. Cornelia Pickett, member of the state central committee.

WE GUARANTEE the total amount figured by using this table to be the full amount you will pay, when payments are made on schedule. You will pay less if you pay your loan ahead of time since you pay charges only for the actual time you have the money. Payments include charges at Household's rate of 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. This rate is less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law.

CHICAGO-DETROIT-BOSTON ISLAND — R. E. HENDERSON, PRESIDENT

CAN YOU make good use of $100? Investigate our loan plans today. Household Finance offers three simple ways for you to borrow up to $300. Your loan will be made the way which best suits your own situation.

1. Signature loans. No security needed. These loans are made, under proper conditions, to both single persons and married couples.

2. Auto loans. A loan on your car may best fit your needs.

3. Furniture loans. Here character and regular income are far more important than the value of your security. Many borrowers use this plan.

No endorsers needed

Whichever way you borrow, it is not necessary to ask friends or fellow-workers to act as endorsers. And at no time do we question friends or relatives about your money affairs. You get the loan you need simply, privately and speedily.

You may repay your loan in convenient monthly installments as shown in the table. Monthly installments of $9.77 each, for instance, will repay a $100 loan in full in twelve months. Or as little as $6.43 a month for twenty months will also repay a $100 loan.

Borrow for less

Payments in the table include charges at Household's rate of 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. The Small Loan Law permits us to charge substantially more than this. Some finance companies do charge a higher rate. It's good business to compare rates before you borrow.

If you need money, here's what to do. Come to Household. Or just phone and say you need a loan. We're here to serve you. Phone or visit us today without obligation.

This unsavory little number presents a detailed chronicle of the sadistic cruelty and official corruption which at some time were allegedly rampant in the penal colony on Devil's Island. This minor epic of sordid inhumanity, relieved only by occasional exchanges of devotion between Donald Woods and Sally Eilers, is scarcely likely to hold much pleasure for you.

Coat of Mink Still Is Dream of Any Woman

BY REA SEEGER.

A mink coat is a mink coat, and any woman's dream of luxury, no matter how they label it, wild or domestic, and there are some breathtaking beauties in the August collections.

The way the pelts are worked is nothing short of wizardry, the feather weight of the entire coat a matter of a few pounds, a lovely burden to hang over any arm or slip over a shoulderline. Long straightline models assure all the accent and eye appeal of the exquisitely marked skins, the deep, dark sheen and beauty of the color and the delectable fluffiness of the fur itself. Sleeves in these straightline affairs are simply cut, wide and easy to slide into, with all sorts of tricky turnover cuff ideas, so that either short or long gloves can be worn.

New this season are the wide and flared daytime coats of mink, some at least three yards or more around the lower flare of the skirt . . . this lavish flare accented by the neatest and smallest of unbelted waistlines. The sleeves repeat the lower flare around the wrists and the neckline smoothes suavely up around the throat without a collar.

Dolman sleeves and variations of dolman outlines dramatize other new mink models. Skins are worked horizontally and with flawless symmetry in curving lines around the shoulders and at the back, then a vertical worked tuxedo collar descends into a front panel. The entire coat can be wrapped luxuriously round the figure.

And while dress length coats are particularly featured and fashioned for this fall and winter, there are all kinds of shorter lengths . . . the last gasp in smart fashions. Softer shoulderlines are emphasized in all models. Bow tie trim, intricate swirled designs of the pelts, dashing back flares, cleverly concealed pockets and exciting new linings of thick satin are worked with the same inspired detailing as the pelts themselves and make mink coats still the unrivaled buy of any woman's life.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 10.—Sunday—First, I've heard a bit of news. Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne want to return to films in "The Sea Gull" — if Bette Davis will play Nina. And Miss Davis is hot for the notion. Production should be next March, after the Lunts' tour. . . . Today, the usual morning of work, and this afternoon to the World Premeer of Gregory La Cava's new playroom on the front of Grace La Cava's house at Malibu Beach. It's an immense, wide room with an elevated stage behind huge windows fronting the sea; and behind and below the stage, in the room proper, is space for a bar, a pool table [where Greg and W. C. Fields will have many a nasty battle], a ping-pong table and a barbeque pit that does everything but play phonograph records. There is also a phonograph that does everything but barbecue turkeys, so everything comes out even. . . . La Cava's current passion is barbecuing fish—catching bonita from Grace's cabin cruiser just off shore, then basting them slowly in mysterious sauces. . . . Now he is going to have to make another Irene Dunne picture at Universal to pay for it all.

Ann Shirley models $25,000 coat; mentioned below.

Monday — To RKO where John Barrymore is playing straight and Kay Kyser is wearing a fearful gray beard in "Playmates." On hand as a crystal-gazer is Leon Belasco, one-time violinist and dance band leader who has become a successful movie comedian. "I always wanted to be an actor," he says, "but I had to earn a living, and playing the fiddle was the simplest way of doing it. I'm glad I'm out of it now. Kyser has fun with his orchestra—but I don't envy him." . . . Kay, from the depths of his beard [which is a nuisance because it's inflammable and he can't smoke] recalls that his first acting job, in college days in North Carolina, was playing an octogenarian behind just such a set of whiskers. "I'm back where I started!" he moans.

Tuesday — To Paramount, which certainly is the most colorful lot in town at the moment. Four color pictures are being shot, bulging the plant till its seams are popping, and there are girls everywhere—girls in period dress, evening dress, strapless burlesque costumes. A big musical number for "Louisiana Purchase" is being staged, and C. B. De Mille is working on a monumental ballroom scene for "Reap the Wild Wind." . . . On the pavement outside a stage I encounter Bob Hope and Frances Gifford, who are posing for a publicity stunt involving a race between a rabbit and a turtle. An animal man has an assortment of pets in some crates, and next he hauls out a two-foot alligator. "Here," he says to Bob, "You hold this out to Frances." "Not me!" she shrieks in horror. Which is odd, because Miss Gifford is the fearless jungle girl of the Republic serial.

Wednesday—A day at the phone and the machine. Interesting angle on a current big-studio production. A semihistorical story was prepared for a couple of big stars, and a fine title selected. One of the raffish characters in the yarn was real, so the studio put aside $20,000 to placate whatever relatives the character might have living. One relative allowed that $20,000 was not enough balm for the outrage to his ancestor, and said something about $100,000. The studio figured it would be cheaper to junk its scenario and hire another set of writers to whip up a new story to fit the original title. Which is what was done—and the new story is reported to be a pip. . . . Walt Disney and 17 of his staff are going to South America to find some cartoon characters suitable for the South American market. . . . Those who have seen Walt's "Dumbo" say it's the best since "Snow White," and maybe even better. Characters are Dumbo, a dopey elephant, and a tough James Cagney mouse who is Dumbo's protector.

Thursday—Another day indoors, except for going down town to get a new camera. The old one, altho still perfect, goes into honorable retirement, and one day it should write its autobiography. Mussolini posed docilely for it several times. It captured Johnny Weissmuller winning the Olympics, Helen Wills cleaning up the Riviera, Lindbergh winging in from St. Louis on the threshold of a wonderful and fearful destiny, William J. Fallon orating in police court, Pavlova, Kreisler, the Dolly sisters, Maurice Chevalier — and many thieves, murderers and forgotten glamor girls.

Friday—To Warners' for a gander at "The Man Who Came to Dinner" and a sandwich in Bette Davis' dressing room. Miss D. is delighted to be in this comedy, which is the kind of legitimate comedy she likes. She says she'll never do another one like "The Bride Came C. O. D." because she prefers straight stuff to slapstick. She confides that, in order to get the rôle in "The Man Who," she had to make an extra picture for the studio —because they could have sold this one without her. . . . She, Ann Sheridan and Monty Woolley are having good fun on the set—and they are due for more when Jimmy Durante reports next week for the rôle of Banjo. Bette doesn't know Jimmy. But she will! . . . In the afternoon to Town House, where RKO is showing Ann Shirley in a $25,000 platinum mink coat. Miss Shirley would also look good in a $25 white rabbit jacket.

Saturday—A morning at the desk, and an afternoon on the Lakeside links.

Fall Promises Gay Season for the Debutantes

BY JUDITH CASS.

THERE'S not much going on for the debutantes and their beaux this month but right after Labor day their hours will be filled. The latest addition to the list of early fall parties is a tea-dance Mr. and Mrs. Franklin P. O'Brien of Winnetka will give on Wednesday, Sept. 10, at the Glen View club to introduce their daughter, Miss Shirley McCormick O'Brien.

Miss O'Brien attended the Bennett school at Millbrook, N. Y., and the Finch school in New York, to which she will return in the fall.

There is to be music for dancing at a tea Mr. and Mrs. T. Weller Kimball are giving on Sept. 3 for their debutante daughter, Miss Jeanne Kimball. The party will be held at the Indian Hill club.

Beach Party to Introduce Ann Johnson on Sept. 3.

On the night of the third there is to be a gay beach party for another September debutante, Miss Ann Johnson. The Harold E. Wallers are inviting about 100 young people to a supper at the Beach club in Winnetka that night. The club is not large, so a marquee will be erected to take care of the overflow crowd. The beach will be used, too.

Miss Betty Conway, the Barret Conways younger daughter, has decided against having a formal debut party altho most of her former classmates at the North Shore Country Day school are coming out this season. Miss Conway plans to go to the Skidmore college camp at Corinth, N. Y., on Aug. 31, so that she will not even be here to assist at some of the September debut teas. When camp closes Miss Conway will return to Skidmore college for her sophomore year.

Mrs. Conway returned on Saturday from Wilmington, Del., where she went to greet her granddaughter, born on Aug. 3 to Mr. and Mrs. Gail Belden [Louise Conway]. The baby has been named Elizabeth Conway after her aunt. Mrs. Conway brought little Gail Belden Jr., to Winnetka with her for a visit.

Suzanne Straub to Be Sister's Maid of Honor.

Another young woman who is foregoing a formal debut this year is Miss Suzanne Straub, the Walter F. Straubs' younger daughter. She is a student at Smith college, and is to be maid of honor for her sister, Miss Anita Straub, when the latter is married on Sept. 3 to William Darrow.

Invitations to the wedding, which will take place at 5:30 p. m. in Christ church, Winnetka, will go into the mail tonight. A reception will follow the ceremony at the Straub home.

Mr. Darrow is to have his brother, Jack, as best man. They are sons of Mrs. Theodore Butz. The list of attendants is not complete. Mr. Darrow and his bride will live in Cambridge, Mass., until he completes his studies at the Harvard law school.

Mackinac Island Fashion Show Will Bring Crowd.

The Lake Placid club, the Seigniory club, and Mackinac Island are in the midst of busy summer seasons. Letters and postcards bring news to Chicago of cool summer breezes and gay parties.

Members of the summer colony at Mackinac Island will be occupied next week-end, one of them writes, taking care of an overflow of guests expected for a gala fashion show on Friday. The show will be held at the Grand hotel for the benefit of Community House, and young women of debutante and subdebutante age will be gathering all this week to rehearse as models.

The John L. Cochrans' daughters, debutante Eleanor, and subdeb Nancy, will be taking part and so will the Howard B. Peabodys' two girls, debutante Joan and her younger sister, Betty. Miss Phyllis Thompson, Maidie Walbridge and Betty Berday of Harbor Point and Toledo, O., and Miss Katherine Registar of Jacksonville, who will be Miss Thompson's guests, are among the models.

The Cochrans are expecting some of their own friends for the week-end, among them Mrs. Stuart Johnson, Arthur Meeker Jr., and Mrs. Paget K. Cady. Miss Thompson's parents, the James C. Thompsons, are hoping to have the James Meltons with them.

The smart fashions to be shown are being sent north from Chicago shops.

Seigniory Club Guests Include Several Chicagoans.

Monteux Closes Ravinia's Orchestra Season Brilliantly

BY EDWARD BARRY.

At Ravinia park yesterday afternoon Pierre Monteux and the Chicago Symphony orchestra closed the symphonic part of the 1941 festival with an enormously exciting performance of the Strauss rondo, "Till Eulenspiegel's Merry Pranks." Then audience, orchestra, and conductor joined in a long tribute to one another. There were smiles and bows and applause and orchestral fanfares.

Altho it may seem contradiction, the excellence of Monteux's "Till" yesterday was the result of the same French lucidity of thought and logic of procedure which had made his performance of Debussy's prelude to "The Afternoon of a Faun" on Saturday night so memorable. For he had simply decided how the score ought to sound if it was to externalize the composer's ideas properly, then had used his great technical skill to make it sound that way.

Never, it is safe to say, have "Till's" closing pages [the stern thunders of the judges and the young rogue's frightened protestations] verged more closely on actual terror than they did yesterday.

The beauty of Monteux's performances of German music continues to be astonishing. Saturday he did Wagner's "Siegfried Idyl" with exquisite polish and unmawkish tenderness.

The American soprano, Hele Traubel, repeated yesterday her triumph of Saturday night. She sang "Dich, teure Halle" from Wagner's "Tannhäuser" with a jubilant bigness of voice and manner, then did the same composer's "Schmerzen" and "Träume" with a fine feeling for subtle color effects and easy, natural lines. After the intermission she continued with Wagner, following "Elsa's Dream" from "Lohengrin" with "Du bist der Lenz" from "Die Walküre." Her success in projecting the flooding ecstasy of the latter song overwhelmed the audience.

Comparisons of Traubel with Kirsten Flagstad are inevitable. Traubel seems to this listener to have a voice just as big as Flagstad's, altho it is perhaps not quite so pure and brilliant in extremely loud passages. Traubel seems superior to Flagstad in the variety and expressiveness of her voice colorings.

Besides the music already mentioned, Ravinia's week-end programs held Beethoven's overture to "Fidlio," the suite from Stravinsky's "Petrouchka," Siegfried's death music from Wagner's "Twilight of the Gods" [all Saturday], and [yesterday] Weber's overture to "Euryanthe," Beethoven's eighth symphony, and the Franck "Pièce Héroique" in Charles O'Connell's transcription. The last named was a first Chicago performance.

There will be four more concerts at Ravinia—all given by the Budapest String quartet with various assisting artists. Next Sunday, the festival's closing day, Benny Goodman, clarinetist, will join the quartet for a performance of Mozart's clarinet quintet.

"A Debt Is Paid"

SYNOPSIS.

Kathleen Murray inherits an income and a home in an actors' colony in California. She goes there to live and falls in love with Hugo Lang, whose play is being produced in the local summer theater. Hugo is also in love with her, but tells her he cannot marry her until he has made enough money for them to live on without having to use Kathleen's. A rich girl, Carol Keyes, is backing his production and insists that she and her current infatuation, Maurice Reed, play the lead rôles. Hugo's foster mother, Ellen Mount; Jeanie Payson, daughter of the local hotel keeper, and Toby Allen, Kathleen's 16 year old protégé, have minor rôles. The theme of the drama is murder, and tho it holds the audience tensely, Kathleen has an uncomfortable presentiment when Wilkie Stokes, another member of the colony, discusses the fascinations of killing. Kathleen feels that Ellen Mount does not like her. She and Hugo are talking about the mother-in-law and financial obstacles to their marriage, when Jeanie comes up and insists that she speak to Hugo alone. They drove off together, and early the next morning Jeanie is found murdered in the woods and Hugo has disappeared. He is found in a secluded cabin and is arrested and tried for murder. Kathleen hires George Cassell, a New York attorney, to defend him. Hugo refuses to talk, and the prosecution tries to prove Hugo had an affair with Jeanie and killed her because he wanted to marry Kathleen for her money. The verdict is guilty and he is sentenced to life imprisonment. In spite of Cassell telling Kathleen he really thinks Hugo is guilty, Kathleen believes him innocent. Cassell begs her to forget Hugo and marry him, but she refuses, and engages William Greer, a New York detective. The Monday after the murder, Carol and Maurice get married, and the show goes on. In reviewing the case with Greer, Kathleen remembers Stokes' odd remarks about murder and decides to do some detecting on her own. She gets Stokes to take her to a rehearsal and tells him she needs help in proving Hugo innocent.

INSTALMENT XXV.

MISUNDERSTOOD.

Stokes turned from Shore drive on the west side of the lake into the Willowdale road. They were in sight of the roofs of the theater. Kathleen was looking straight ahead at the pleasant road shadowed by its heavy trees. She was conscious of his intent gaze on her face—or was it on her slim neck?

"I'd enjoy helping you. But I don't concentrate well in strange surroundings. Would you care to come up to my house and talk it over with me tomorrow night?"

Something quivered in her—the fear that wanted to come back.

"I'd like that very much," she said with unhesitating decision.

"Then let's make it a dinner date. My housekeeper cooks well. I'll expect you at 8 o'clock."

He drew up at the gateway of the Tilton house, leaned over and opened the door of the car for her. She got out, thanking him.

"I hear they're resuming the show next week," he said. "Personally I think it's in very bad taste."

Kathleen had a moment of doubt as she walked up the drive when the car had driven away. He was so absolutely normal that it seemed ridiculous to think he was insane. Or even sane and guilty. Now she was being ridiculous. He was clever. Would he be likely to go about advertising possession of a secret which gave him his perverted pleasure?

She entered the theater by way of the auditorium and saw the company, short only of Toby, already grouped upon the stage. Carol saw Kathleen coming. She came to the footlights.

"O, goody-goody! You came."

"Well, I said I was going to."

"Sure. But everybody doesn't keep a promise. You know what people are. Here's the script. Come on up."

Kathleen mounted the steps at the side of the stage. She greeted all but the slim young stranger taking Jeanie's place, and wondered if she imagined a sardonic quality in the smile of Mrs. Mount.

Kathleen had not formulated any thought as to how Hugo's foster mother should take her substantial assistance to him in his trial, but she couldn't help feeling the older woman might have changed her curious attitude of aloof amusement. If that still remained. The faint smile had gone when she looked at Mrs. Mount again, and she could not be sure. Now there was an expression of resigned unhappiness.

She thought Maurice looked curiously sullen, but Carol was her high-spirited managing self. She introduced the self-confident and enterprising newcomer.

"Don't bother with any of the business, Miss Murray. It's enough that you give us Toby's cues."

Kathleen took the script, followed Carol's scarlet tipped finger and began to read. Mrs. Mount, cast as Toby's grandmother in the play, made two speeches and interrupted the rehearsal.

"I think the part is top-heavy. I mean it would be better if we cut some of the lines."

"I think they're exactly right," said Kathleen, impulsive in her defense of Hugo's work.

The big-hoarse-voiced woman gave Kathleen a weary look. "You being an expert, I suppose." She turned on Carol. "You're supposed to be the biggest influence on the boy's life. The one I'm fighting. You should have this scene. Or doesn't that make sense?"

Carol stared at her dumbfounded.

"But you wanted it this way," said Maurice. "Have you forgotten you suggested that last speech to give you a chance to show your versatility?"

"I can change my mind, can't I? When I want your opinion, young man, I'll ask for it."

Kathleen shared Carol's obvious amazement. It was unheard of for an actress of Mrs. Mount's caliber to want her part weakened. Carol approached her, looking at her with concern.

"You look worse today. If you don't feel equal to the work, I'll get somebody else. Don't hesitate to tell me."

"I feel perfectly well," snapped Mrs. Mount. "And I still think the part is over-written——"

"I object to making any changes in it," Kathleen interrupted.

Everybody began to talk at once, but Carol's voice emerged clearly. "I have an agreement with the author to change the play as I think fit. Let's go ahead with the next scene, Mrs. Mount, I'll discuss this afterward."

The rehearsal continued. When it was over Carol thanked Kathleen for her help, adding—"I think you're awfully brave the way you're taking things."

Kathleen smiled with what she hoped was a carefree air.

"Hugo didn't do it, and he'll soon be out, so what is there to be brave about?"

Carol leaned nearer to her and whispered. "His mother isn't so sure. She's afraid he did it. When she thinks no one's looking her eyes fill with tears. She's drinking too much, too. She's eating her heart out."

Kathleen went cold all over.

"Did she say that to you?"

"O, no, she wouldn't admit it. But that why she wants her beautiful part cut. She's too sick to care what happens any more. So the work's too much for her."

"But, Miss Keyes——"

"Hush, here she comes." Carol added in a louder tone for Mrs. Mount's benefit, "what do you think of our schoolgirl actress?"

"She seems very talented——"

"Don't waste your breath pretending to be talking about her," said Mrs. Mount. "You don't take me in."

Kathleen was shocked at the gray look of her face now that she was close to them. She picked up the jacket Mrs. Mount had forgotten and went off the stage with her. What Carol had said had warmed her to the other woman.

"Don't worry about Hugo," said Kathleen gently, "he isn't worrying. We'll prove his innocence——"

Mrs. Mount's tired eyes flashed with anger.

"You're telling me—and I'm his mother?"

"O, Mrs. Mount, I didn't mean to upset you. Of course you believe in him. I only meant to cheer you up."

"Cheer me up!" The actress uttered a startling oath. "That's why I object to rich idle girls. They're not realists. Now tell me, if you can, one reason why I should be cheerful because my son's in prison."

It would have been better for Kathleen to give in and withdraw at once beaten, but she was not made that way, even tho she realized she had said the wrong thing again.

"Well—for one thing, he'll soon be out."

Mrs. Mount stood under the pergola between the theater auditorium and the Tilton house and stared at Kathleen belligerently.

"Indeed! Who said so?"

"Me. I mean I have faith——"

"I don't find that a reason for cheer. Try another one."

"He didn't do it. He's innocent——"

Mrs. Mount's laugh was like a hoarse bark. "A very good reason to shout hurrah. My son's in prison with a lot of human baboons, but that's all right because he's innocent. What do you want me to do to show I'm cheered? Sing and dance—tra-la—tra-la?"

Kathleen backed away from her in hurt embarrassment. "It's no use," she murmured. "We'll never understand each other——"

Mrs. Mount barked again, but her eyes were still bright with anger.

"Good. Let's leave it at that."

Kathleen saw the bus coming as she went out of the gate and ran for it. Her car was standing in the driveway when she got home, so Toby was around somewhere. She found him on the veranda.

"Well, Toby, did our ace take tricks?"

"We got him all wrong, Kathleen. He's the swellest fellow."

"I never doubted it. He's the kindest looking male I ever saw. With eyes as gentle as a Jersey cow's."

"I don't mean it that way. He's smart. He's clever."

USO Continues to Accept Gifts for Service Work

Altho its goal of $679,000 has been reached, Chicago United Service organization headquarters said yesterday it would continue to accept contributions to provide recreational facilities for men of the armed services. Officials explained that more than a million men had joined the army and navy since the national goal of $10,765,000 was set, and that the present USO budget must be stretched over 14 months instead of 12.

If you've never tried cantaloupe in a jam, you'll be delighted with the results of today's recipes. Cantaloupe doesn't make a particularly nice jam by itself but, in combination with other fruits, it works beautifully.

Try it with your favorite tart plums, the big, fat ones, or the little ones such as those which used to grow in the family orchard back home.

Remember to cook any jam in small quantities, not more than two quarts at a time, as a rule. Overcooking is easy with a large batch.

Plum and Cantaloupe Jam
6 pounds tart plums
1 small cantaloupe
4 pounds sugar

Wash plums, cut up large ones and seed them if the seeds come out easily. If they don't, you can remove them after cooking. Peel and slice cantaloupe. Combine fruits and add four cups of water. Cook until fruit is soft, put it thru a colander or food mill, and add sugar. Boil as rapidly as possible without scorching, until jam has thickened. Fill clean, hot jars and seal.

Peach and Cantaloupe Conserve
2 cups diced peaches
2 cups diced cantaloupe
2 lemons, juice and grated rind
3 cups sugar
½ cup chopped walnuts

Combine fruit, lemon, and sugar and cook until thick and clear. Add nuts last. Pour into clean jars and seal.

Pineapple and Cantaloupe Jam
1 cantaloupe, peeled and sliced
1 pineapple, diced, with juice
Juice and grated rind of 1 orange
Juice and grated rind of 1 lemon
¾ cup sugar for each cup of fruit

Combine fruit, juices, and rind. Cook until soft. Mash and measure. Add ¾ cup sugar for every cup of pulp. Boil together until thickened. Seal in clean, hot jars.

Free Ice Fund Lags $200 Behind 1940 Total at This Time

Tho the need is as great as ever, the Ice Fund is $200 behind last year's total at this time. Every one who goes to the refrigerator for ice several times a day during this heat wave should remember that thousands of families in the tenement areas do not have any ice. The sick suffer from lack of it. Many children do not have enough food or milk because the limited amounts their parents can afford to buy spoils.

One desperate case is a family of 11 sharing five small rooms under the flat roof of a store building in Halsted street. There are seven children ranging from 6 months to 8 years old, all underweight, an old grandmother with no teeth, and an invalid mother, all of whom need milk. They buy a gallon and a half of milk a day, but without ice it spoils before the day is over.

So far this summer TRIBUNE readers have contributed $1,351.83 to the Ice Fund. Gifts totaling $51 were received yesterday from the following: Mrs. Lois EtsHokin, $10; Belle B. Smith, anonymous, E. Newberry, J. K. V., In Memory of K. D., a friend, each $5, and anonymous and Trevor W. White, each $3.

To relieve conditions in the case mentioned above, the charities sent two of the children to Camp Algonquin. Seven are still at home. A total of $828.01 has been given this summer to help maintain the camp. Gifts yesterday were $10.38 from Mrs. Rose B. Paige and $10 from Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Merrell and Esther M. Newberry.

Numerology
By Evelyn Holmes

Aug. 11, 1941.

Universal Day—An excellent day for checking your bank balance.

Keywords—If you learn the keywords for the numbers, you won't have to consult your chart if it isn't handy. First, add the number of the month to the number of the day. For instance, Aug. 11 would be 8 plus 11, which adds to 19, and is reduced to a single digit by adding 1 plus 9, giving you 1. Now add whatever the number of your own personal year is as given in your personal chart, and that will give you what your personal day is for that day. If you want to know the number of the universal day, add 6 [the universal year number] instead of your personal year. Today is a 7 day, universally, because 8 plus 11 plus 6 equals 25 or, reduced, equals 7. I will give the keywords of the numbers from 1 to 9 in the next nine days, so watch for them.

Would you like to know what kind of a year 1941 will be for you? Send for your personal yearly, monthly, and daily guide.

Versatile Autumn Frock

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

One quality this frock certainly has, and that is versatility. It also is practical, in a whimsical sort of way. This jumper, with its companion blouse, is adorned only with heart-shaped pockets. The lines are paneled for beautiful fit and comfort, while the blouse has a shirred neckline and puffed sleeves. The versatility comes in where the apron is concerned. What we mean is this: Use the skirt pattern to make pretty coverall apron.

Style No. 3122 is designed for sizes 12, 14 and 16, and 36, 38 and 40 inch bust measurements.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

For 15 cents buy the summer Chicago Tribune book of Clotilde Fashions on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower; 10 cents if ordered with a pattern. Address mail orders to the New York address above.

between the Lake Placid and the Seigniory clubs. Mrs. Frances B. Ritchie, who spends every summer at the Canadian resort in the province of Quebec, has as her guests her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Ritchie and their daughter, Miss Cameron Ritchie. The William Ritchie family lived in Hinsdale until recently when Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie moved to Madison, Wis.

Miss Ritchie will be taking part in a costume party the junior group of the club will be holding on Thursday night. The Gardner Browns, Frank McNair, Mrs. Walter S. Goodwillie, Mrs. Frederic Clifford, Mr. and Mrs. David J. O'Connell, Miss Beatrice Lindsay, and Miss Virginia Gerard are a few of the Chicagoans who have been at the Seigniory club this summer.

Chicagoans at the Lake Placid club, who include the Edmund D. Adcocks and the Bentley G. McClouds and their debutante daughter, Miss Nancy, enjoyed watching some exhibition golf matches yesterday. Playing were Horton Smith and Lawson Little, against James Searles, professional at the club, and Dr. Thomas Osgood of the University of Michigan staff.

The Manoir Richelieu in cool Murray Bay attracts many Chicagoans each summer. Mrs. Frederic C. Woodward and her daughter, Miss Nancy Freund, are departing tomorrow by motor for a three week holiday there. Mr. Woodward is unable to accompany them as he is busy with the University of Chicago's 50th anniversary celebration, planned for the end of September.

Council on Foreign Relations Plans Talks.

The Chicago Council on Foreign Relations does not often have summertime meetings, but one planned for this week and another for next week will be unusually well attended. Each is to be held in a thoroly air cooled room at the Palmer House, which should be almost as much of a drawing card as the speakers themselves.

Geoffrey Crowther, editor—at 34—of the London Economist, will speak at 12:30 o'clock tomorrow. He will be introduced by Richard Bentley, newly elected president of the council, who will preside at the meeting. At the table with Mr. Crowther, who visited Chicago several years ago, will be two of his friends, Dr. Walter Lichtenstein and Dean Homer Vanderblue of Northwestern university; Lewis Bernays, the British counsul general; Harry D. Gideonse, president of Brooklyn college, who is summering at the Indiana Dunes; the Canadian trade commissioner, M. B. Palmer, and James R. Leavell.

The second meeting, next Monday at the same hour, will be addressed by Walter Duranty, war correspondent and author, who has just returned from Russia and the orient. He will speak on "The Russo-German War."

Vacationing Chicagoans Visit in New England.

Miss Judith Mabbatt and her mother, Mrs. M. Seaverns Mabbatt, have gone east for a month's visit with friends on Cape Cod.

Child's Crocheted Dress

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

When youngsters start on their initial tour of discovery they must have some serviceable dresses which can stand wear and tear. This crocheted frock is brimming with style and originality. The clever yoke and puffed sleeves are the epitome of daintiness. The ribbons thru the hem of the skirt are a new fashion point and are repeated at the arms in the center front. The pattern is available in sizes 2, 4, 6, and 8 years.

For instructions in crocheting the child's dress, No. 800, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

Sally Wants 100 White Sox Fans for Party

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Who wants to come to the ball game with me?

I'm looking for 100 gen-u-ine White Sox fans to take to Comiskey park on Aug. 21, when Jimmy Dykes and his boys will play the Boston Red Sox. Mr. Harry Grabiner has extended invitations for 50 boys and 50 girls.

The youngsters who are fortunate enough to be selected as my guests at this party will see a lot of famous baseball players, including Luke Appling and Joe Kuhel on the Chicago team and the well known Jimmy Foxx and Ted Williams from Boston.

If baseball is your favorite sport, and you think you can convince me that you'd enjoy this party more than anything else you can imagine, maybe you'll be a winner. My purpose is to select the boys and girls who'd have the best time at this party—so if you think that description fits you, write and tell me about it.

If you can convince me that you'd really appreciate this opportunity to see the Sox, maybe you'll find your name listed with the winners in next SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE.

However, no matter how good your letter is, you won't get an invitation unless you remember to tell me your full name, your address, and your age. If any one of those three items is missing, out you go!

Write that letter all by yourself—with no help from any one—and please don't ask for invitations for your friends. All mail must reach my desk by next Thursday morning, so don't wait too long to send your note to Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

Dog Days of August Good for Reading

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.

The dog days of August are ideal for reading. A good book enhances a cool day, makes bearable a hot one, and if you are in a location in city or country where the evening temperature takes a delightful drop in August, a book fits in again. I mean for the children, especially those in their teens who, during the school year when homework is heavy, find so little leisure for adventuring in reading.

I keep talking of boys and girls of high school [or near high school] age in connection with books and summer, because in my own experience summer is not so much book-time for the little children. They are so in love with the earth and the physical freedom that summer outdoors means, with the breeze and sun on their bodies, with water to paddle in, sand to dig in, and all sorts of fascinating discoveries among shells and worms and insects to make, that books don't appeal as much as they do in winter time, but school children are in a different frame of mind.

To be sure, even among them there are some who will never be omnivorous readers, but every child, with a little encouragement, can learn to lose himself between the covers of a book, and acquire enough of a taste for reading so that it becomes one of the resources of his leisure. For many little children, the introduction to books has come from being read aloud to. You might try this if yours are older and need a little "boost" toward books. Let them flop around in the coolest spot indoors or out, and listen to you as you read from a volume specially chosen to hold their interest.

We have reading lists graded according to age. Send a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope for each age. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, the Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Illinois.

Service Marks 70th Year of Ridge Chapel Church

Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 10 [Special].—Members of the Ridge Chapel church near Piper City today celebrated the 70th anniversary of its organization and the 50th anniversary of the building of the present edifice. Dr. Arthur S. Chapman, superintendent of the Bloomington district, delivered the morning sermon. The chapel and community received their name from the soil formation which is found eight miles northeast of Piper City. In earlier days the area was a sand ridge surrounded by a swamp. Today the ridge is covered by fertile farms.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

Today's word to the wives concerns a perfectly elegant new hair brush for men.

Men are inclined to be dopes about caring for their hair, but they do brood about it when they see it getting scarce. It seems to be up to the women to promote intelligent preventive care, and we know of no better way to prod the men into scalp consciousness than to present them with a good hairbrush. The follow up, of course, is to see that it's used morning and night.

Most gift brushes are chosen for looks rather than quality. But there is one on the market now that is strictly a utility brush, and one of the best. It has natural bristles, which you don't find too often nowadays and will see even more rarely in the future, that are long and strong and well graduated. There are nine rows of them across the width of the brush and about 20 along its length. It's the kind of a brush that gets right down to the scalp, and that can be used to do a stimulating as well as a polishing job.

Unlike most men's brushes this isn't one of those military jobs. It has a short, sturdy handle—just right to get an excellent grip on. Back and handle are hard, highly polished wood. It should give service for years and years, and you can be certain that if the man puts it to service he'll be doing a lot to safeguard his hair.

This isn't a cheap brush, but in quality and practical design it's such a whooperdooper that it deserves special attention.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

The homily, "one good turn deserves another," is admirable for ordinary conduct, but it has no place at the bridge table. When your adversaries present you with an unearned trick, do not be so polite as to return it. In short, don't emulate the declarer in the following deal:

West, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.
Match-point duplicate.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 club	1 heart	Pass	1 spade
2 clubs	2 spades	Pass	Pass
3 clubs	3 hearts	Pass	3 spades
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

North bid his hand rather aggressively, probably because he was not playing against strong opposition. When it came time for him to pass or bid over three clubs, he felt that it would be better to go down one trick, even doubled, than to permit the opponents to play a contract which he felt sure they could make. Incidentally, I might point out that five clubs could have been made by perfect play, involving a lead up to the heart queen and a finesse against the diamond king.

West bid very badly, his repeated club bidding not showing anything like his general strength. He should have doubled one spade for a takeout.

West opened the club ace, and followed with a low club. The king won, declarer discarding a diamond, and then a low club was ruffed. A heart was led toward dummy's king. West hopped up, and made a horrible return. He probably was afraid that dummy's heart suit would be set up, but his own heart holding should have reassured him. Whatever his reason, he laid down the diamond ace, following this with the diamond queen. Declarer won and ruffed a diamond with the six of spades. Now, of course, all he had to do was cross-ruff the hand. Obviously impressed, however, by the good diamond in his own hand, he decided to draw trumps. It was a fatal decision. West won the spade king with the ace and returned a heart. The king won, but now when the spade queen was cashed, declarer found himself on an even trump basis with East, and with no method of returning to his own hand except by ruffing. After he had ruffed the ten of hearts East was one trump up, for the setting trick.

Tomorrow's Hand.

West, dealer.

SOX WIN 2 FROM INDIANS; CUBS LOSE, 3 TO 1

ALL-STARS CONCENTRATE ON DEFENSE IN 1ST DRILL

STOP BEARS! IT'S BATTLE CRY OF COACH SNAVELY

Squad Gets Off to Serious Start.

Musicians!

COLLEGE musicians and former members of the All-Star band residing in the Chicago district are invited to participate in the ceremony between halves of the College All-Americans-Chicago Bears game in Soldiers' field on Aug. 28. Musicians should write to G. Cliffe Bainum, band director, Fisk hall, Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Carl Snavely of Cornell university, head coach of the All-Star football squad which meets the Chicago Bears the night of Aug. 28 in Soldiers' field, unpacked his brief case of defensive formations yesterday afternoon in Dyche stadium for the initial college drill.

The attacking skill of the Bears, who romped over Washington's Redskins, 73 to 0, last December, and the seeming perfection of the T formation, man in motion offense which the Bears have developed, have made defense the most important item on the All-Stars' practice agenda.

Coach Snavely has several definite ideas about how the college boys should meet the quick opening plays of the professional champions and their runs and passes from man in motion formations. Perhaps, the All-Stars may have no more success than did Washington. That remains to be seen. But Snavely and his coworkers are prepared to follow a definite plan and many of their drills will be held in secret.

Hollingbery Concurs.

Orin (Babe) Hollingbery of Washington State, whose Cougars learned about the T formation from Stanford university last fall, is in accord with the current defensive plans. In yesterday's two hour drill Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern had charge of the guards and tackles, and shared responsibility for the centers with the others. George James, one of Snavely's assistants at Cornell, reported yesterday. He will assist in development of the All-Star team. Max Reed, also from Cornell; Fritz Crisler, Michigan's head coach, and Homer Norton, who directs football at Texas A. & M., complete the list of coaches.

More than 40 members of the All-Stars had checked in at the Hinman house before noon yesterday. These players and a few late comers were in uniform for the initial drill. Late last night the personnel of the squad practically had been completed. The players were issued complete practice equipment. More important — and the Bears should take note—the All-Stars wore shoulder pads and head guards for the first practice. They needed them, too.

Results Wanted—Pronto.

"We want to find out immediately the men on whom we can count in the game with the Bears." This statement to his assistants completely explains Coach Snavely's attitude. He probably will divide the squad into three groups, altho only two divisions were made yesterday. This will facilitate handling of the men, make possible necessary shifts, and above all, determine the All-Stars who will be physically able to play.

To this end the guards and tackles were practicing pulling out of the line yesterday to demonstrate speed and agility. The coaches were checking offensive and defensive assignments, working blocking backs, and fundamental line play. The group barked out the plays to be tried, then the forward passers spent 45 minutes throwing to the ends. For the time being any player may show his passing ability. Later definite selections will be made.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The 42 year old Charles Root was showered with gifts yesterday on his day in Wrigley field, but what he wanted the most was overlooked. The tokens piled up at home plate before 3 o'clock and all of these the old timer would gladly have swapped for a few runs after that hour. His Cub mates, on whom the run producing responsibility rested, did nothing about it, so Jim Wilson's sixth placers tumbled to another defeat before the champion Reds, 3 to 1.

Johnny Vander Meer looked after the matter of inflicting the Cubs' ninth trimming in eleven games and didn't permit many liberties. A Cub toured as far as third base only twice, including the fellow who scored their run in the fifth. And while the left handed, no-hit notable was furnishing amusement for 18,739 fans, a lad named Eddie Lukon, recently imported from Knoxville, was tearing Root's pitching job to bits.

Lukon Aids in Three Runs.

Lukon, after fanning in his first inning appearance, took a hand in each of the Reds' scoring episodes. He singled to launch their first run in the fourth. He singled in the sixth and nothing came of it but he wasn't thru. He singled in the eighth and later scored the run that shattered a 1 to 1 tie, aided by a schoolboy throw by Lou Stringer. Then he singled for the fourth time in the ninth, thus driving in the only run he didn't score personally.

Root was almost thru the fourth before even a semblance of trouble arose. He retired the first two men. Lukon then singled to left, moving up on Frank McCormick's single which Bobby Sturgeon knocked down in deep short. After a pass to Lonnie Frey had loaded the bases, Harry Craft bounced to Sturgeon who, had he elected to throw to first, might have ended the inning. Instead, he tried to force Frey, who had started for second on the pitch. Frey arrived ahead of the throw, Lukon scoring.

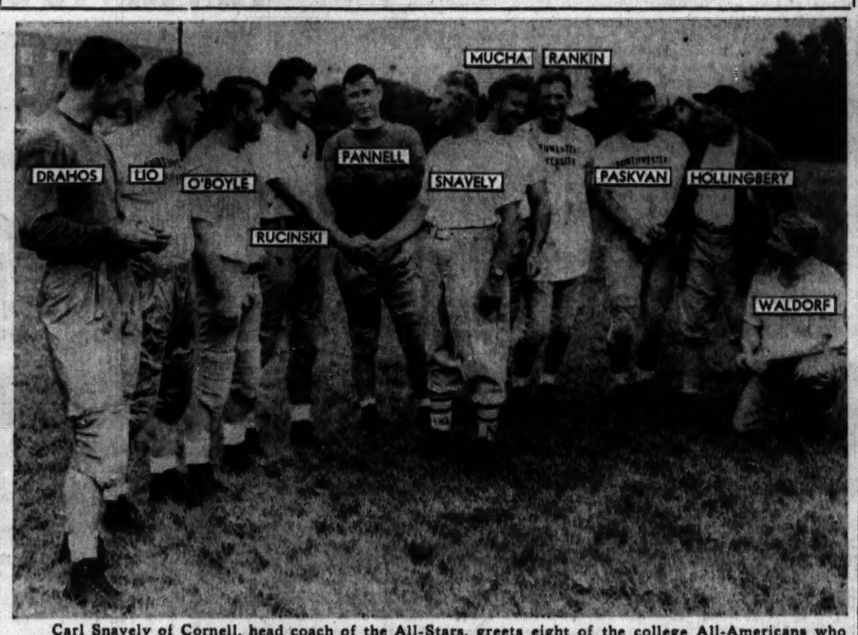
Cubs Furnish Tying Run.

The Cubs got around to furnishing Root the tying run in the fifth.

Clyde McCullough promoted a hit for himself on a slow bounder to Mattick. Sturgeon produced the second out and Root drew his second pass. Stan Hack spanked a single past Frank McCormick and McCullough dashed homeward.

The tie-dissolving run in the eighth was put on the path when Lukon and F. McCormick singled with one out. Frey bounced to Stringer who was playing in close awaiting just the kind of play that turned up. But Stringer threw wild and Lukon scored. The ninth inning run was started by Ernie Lombardi who singled and took second on Hank Leiber's fumble. Dick West ran for Lombardi, and after being bunted to third by Vander Meer was driven in on Lukon's fourth hit.

The All-Stars Have Their First Roundup



Carl Snavely of Cornell, head coach of the All-Stars, greets eight of the college All-Americans who will start against the Chicago Bears in Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 28. Snavely shakes hands with Eddie Rucinski, Indiana end. Coach Orin Hollingbery of Washington State and Coach Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern, members of the All-Star coaching staff, also greet players. Those Bears Seem Only to Eat and Drill

BY EDWARD PRELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Delafield, Wis., Aug. 10—Well, those Chicago Bears are out there on the practice field again, but a fellow has to take some time out to report their activities. George Halas, the owner-coach, has promised to send a courier if anything of moment happens during this second trip of the day to the St. John's Military academy gridiron. It seems as if the Bears always are either practicing or eating, or just resting for a few minutes before doing one or the other.

This morning, stripped down to white gym pants and light elbow length sweat shirts, the National league champions opened their second day of preparation for their third excursion into Soldiers' field as professional football's representatives against the College All-Stars the night of Aug. 28.

Sun Is At Its Best.

A cooling breeze helped matters a bit, but the sun was at its best, the players making frequent trips to the edge of the field for salt tablets. Timing, both by backs and linemen, was the main theme of today's drills. Equipped with large cardboards on which were charted various formations, Coach Halas and his assistants passed volubly on the success or failure of their execution.

They didn't tell the players so, but

THE STARS ARE OUT

The 66 college football players who will meet the Chicago Bears, National league champions, in the eighth annual All-Star game in Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 28, are practicing at Northwestern university. The Bears are busy in their training camp in Delafield, Wis.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 10.—The amazingly revitalized White Sox this afternoon swept the series with the disillusioned Cleveland Indians by supporting Ted Lyons' six hit pitching for a 5 to 2 victory in the first game of a double header before 21,313 die hard fans, and following up with a 2 to 1 dandy behind Thornton Lee's six hit pitching in the second game.

The lads, in raising their winning streak to six straight and eight out of nine, ended their three week road trip with a record of 11 victories to 9 defeats.

The Sox, since discovering last Sabbath what bats are for when they banged out 18 safe ones in Washington, have made 103 hits in eight contests and are fairly frothing to bruise the green walls in Comiskey park. They were so eager to get home that they played the first game today in 1 hour and 50 minutes and the second in 1 hour and 34 minutes.

Chapman Helps Ted.

In addition to being Lyons' 244th triumph as a member of the White Sox, the accomplishment in the first game gave him his 11th victory of the season, his fourth straight this season over the Indians after losing his first start against them. Thru the ages Ted has whipped the Indians 46 times while losing 26.

Main man in Ted's hitting support was Ben Chapman, an ex-Indian during the stormy Vitt vituperations last season. He hit a triple, single, and double, which produced runs.

Lee's victory in the second game was his 14th of the year. The big westerner didn't allow an Indian to reach first base in the first three innings.

The two victories brought the total for the year against the Indians to 10 with 5 defeats. Last year the Indians won 16 from the Sox while losing 6.

Indians Are Jittery.

The Indians came out for the first game trembling like aspen leaves, tho we've never seen an aspen leaf flutter. With one down, Grimes captured Kuhel's bouncer a few steps from first base but waited for Pitcher Al Smith to cover, then made a bad toss. Hemsley apparently had Kuhel's theft of second broken up, but Mack dropped the ball. Kuhel got to third on a wild pitch and scored on Chapman's triple. Chapman scored on Wright's fly. Appling beat out a tap to Smith and went on to second when the pitcher made a jerky throw that hit half way to first and bounced

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

A SALUTE to the 70 young men who this morning at Northwestern university begin preparations for one of the biggest assignments ever given a football squad. . . . They comprise the group of 1941 All-Stars who on the night of Aug. 28 will try to whip the Chicago Bears, an achievement which eluded the runner-up team in the National Football league last season by 73 to 0. . . . The time is short, the obstacles almost insurmountable. . . . But victory for the players fresh from college gridirons isn't impossible. . . . Maybe this is the greatest professional team that has appeared in the All-Star series. . . . There is abundant evidence that it is. . . . But who is there to say that this is not the greatest All-Star squad of all time? . . . If the players under the tutelage of Carl Snavely and his staff of assistants have the competitive spark displayed by every previous All-Star squad, only the greatest team in football will be able to defeat this year's array of collegians, come the night of Aug. 28. . . . Only one thing is certain as the Bears and All-Stars settle down to the training grind. . . . The real winners of the game will be the poor and underprivileged of Chicago who again will receive 100 per cent of the profits, except for $2,500 which will be donated to the United Service organization.

Fans who wonder why Jimmy Dykes doesn't get leg cramps when they watch him squat all afternoon on his ledge at the end of the White Sox dugout should know that he squats that way on Pullman seats. . . . Al Simmons, Athletics' coach, refused to prosecute a Philadelphia fan who almost hit him with a pop bottle. . . . The fan explained that he was trying to hit somebody else. . . . Seven University of Iowa football players picked the 7 to 0 victory over Notre Dame last fall as their greatest thrill in sports. . . . Fred Gloden, who ran back seven punts for touchdowns during his sophomore year at Tulane, is the object of most of the natives' attention in the Philadelphia Eagles' training camp at Two Rivers, Wis. . . . Rockingham Park adopted the old aluminum pot and pan idea for gate admission one day recently. . . . Wonder how that would work out in the mutuels. . . . We'll bet a coffee pot and skillet on Whirlaway his next time out. . . . If he wins, he should pay at least a cocktail shaker and two salt cellars.

Lines to a Poet.

Gazing out thru life's prison bars
He skipped the gutter and saw the stars,
Here was a soul that lived above
The common need for bread or love;
This was a man who must have known
Days and years of being alone,
Or how else could he ever impart
Those words straight into the human heart?
His was a soul that must have found
The ship of life Valhalla bound,
He searched for the good, as to those who sinned,
Their faults were as chaff before the wind;
His simple creed was, no man is bad—
Discouraged, perhaps, disheartened, sad,
But the very worst of these would be good
If those around them believed they could!

OVER AND OVER

In a speech to the nations of the western hemisphere on Oct. 12, 1940, President Roosevelt said:

"The clear facts have been stated over and over again. This country wants no war with any nation. This hemisphere wants no war with any nation. The American republics are determined to work in unity for peace just as we work in unity to defend ourselves from attack.

"We arm to defend ourselves. The strongest reason for this is that it is the strongest guarantee for peace."

NANCY CAPTURES SNIPE TITLE IN WILMETTE RACES

Dunphy Trophy Goes to Jack Snipe.

Nancy, the Kuehl-Crofoot syndicate's racing sloop from the Oshkosh [Wis.] Snipe class fleet, yesterday won the Great Lakes Snipe class championship prize, the Commodore Chalmer Burns Memorial trophy, off Wilmette harbor. Nancy won the title with a total score of 4,005 points. Henry Schuette of the Manitowoc [Wis.] Snipe fleet, won the Dunphy trophy, Great Lakes team racing championship award, in his sloop Jack Snipe. Both the Burns and Dunphy trophy series were held by the Wilmette Yacht club.

John Lane of the Sheridan Shore Yacht club won the second annual Green Star championship of Lake Michigan in his and Ted Mead's Skylark, off Grant Park harbor. The final race of the two day series was won by Orion, Howard Bordner's Chicago Yacht club Star boat, in 2 hours, 20 minutes, and 6 seconds. Skylark won the championship, a novice title, with a final score of 50 points. Gemini, sailed by Roger Friskey, was a close second with 49 points.

Southern Shore Yachts Win.

Despite a strong east wind and a choppy sea the first dozen cruisers in the annual Jackson Park-Southern Shore Yacht club challenge race yesterday completed the 12 mile course within less than a minute of their predetermined finish time. Carl Engholm of the Jackson Park Yacht club, who bought the 31 foot cruiser Circe last week, finished only 8/10 of a second off his announced time. The Southern Shore yachts won the race with a score of 115 against 95, successfully defending the interclub navigation championship.

Omar, the Bayless-Breckenridge syndicate's Star class sloop, won the Chicago Corinthian Yacht club's Star boat race off Montrose harbor yesterday. Sarong, Gene Lund's 17 foot sloop, won the Lightning class event.

MacMillan Wins Cutter Race.

Sea Scout ship MacMillan defeated the Chicago champion cutter crew of Sea Scout ship Flying Dutchman yesterday in the Southwest Squadron's annual race off 59th street harbor. MacMillan's crew covered the three-quarter mile course in 6 minutes 1½ seconds. The winning ship is commanded by Dr. Axel Alson. Flying Dutchman was second of the eight ships to finish, being timed at 6:2.1. It is commanded by Skipper Henry Foerth. Commodore C. Christensen was race committee chairman.

The North Shore Sea Scout squadron's annual race for 26 foot cutter crews was captured by Sea Scout ship Lightning under command of Skipper Richard Sanders. Lightning's crew covered the Lincoln Park Boat club's half mile course in 3:59.8. Sea Scout ship Victor, in charge of Skipper S. W. Davis, won the lifeboat rowing race in 4:33.4. Commodore Byron Willis, Stanley Griffin, and Edward Tomamichael were the race committee.

Texan Takes Skeet Title in Long Shootoff

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 10 (AP).—A straight shooting Texan from San Antonio, 41 year old C. H. Poulton, won the national all-gauge skeet championship at the seventh annual tourney today, beating 28 year old Alex Kerr of Beverly Hills, Cal., in the longest shootoff the clay target tourney has ever witnessed.

The Texan, after breaking 250 straight in the regular event to tie with Kerr, broke another 175 in a row to take the laurels, Kerr missing the 155th target.

Kerr also lost in a shootoff a year ago at Syracuse.

But he won the subsmall gauge title with 99 of 100, a new record; took the all-around championship with 543 of 550, 1 off the record; captured the world's long run record of 545 with the 12 gauge to erase the 512 set in 1938 by Max Marcum of Louisville, Ky., and wound up by winning the captaincy of the 1941 all-American skeet team.

Mrs. M. L. Smythe of Aurora, O., made a runaway race of the women's all-gauge contest, breaking 245 of 250 to build up a five-target edge. Mrs. Barr Patterson of Chicago finished second, beating 21 year old Jane Hofmann of Lake View, O., 24 to 22, after they had tied at 240 of 250.

Those Bears Seem Only to Eat and Drill

afternoons, during a relaxation period in Smythe hall, the coaches agreed that the squad was in better condition than in any of recent years at reporting time.

Clark Shaughnessy thought Gary Famiglietti, the full back known as Race Horse, looked tired. Gary has just finished several weeks in a steel mill. He weighed 229 pounds today, compared to 257 when Halas suggested a course in manual labor. The big fellow may be tired, but he's happy all those pounds have been worn away.

Halas Has Two Others.

"Gary's just the third best full back in the league," Halas remarked, "The other two are, of course, Osmanski and Maniaci."

Hunk Anderson, the Bears' line coach, wanted to know what would happen when Stanford's Rose bowl full back, Norman Standlee, joined the champions after the All-Star game. Hunk offered to make a tackle out of the far westerner.

The Bears are doing plenty of thinking about the All-Stars, too.

"Dick Plasman [Bears' end] tells me that this Tommy O'Boyle of Tulane is the best lineman in the south's history," contributed Luke Johnsos, the end coach.

Manders Wants to Thin Down.

"Well, don't forget that Gary, Ind., produced him," reminded Halas. Jack Manders, who is starting his ninth season with the Bears, and whose field goal provided the only points the Bears have scored under their own power in two previous All-Star games, weighs 216 pounds and put in a bid for a rubber shirt to help the shrinking process.

Lew Hamity, perhaps the last of the University of Chicago varsity players still active in football, has made a favorable impression, Halas already rates him as his No. 3 quarter back.

Scratched from the Bears' roster is Jack Torrance, gigantic former Louisiana State lineman, who has decided to retire from football. His absence was not a shock to the Bears' board of strategy. Today they issued a bulletin to counteract the imposing list of 66 players at the All-Stars' Evanston retreat.

"Our 43 men," read the bulletin, "weigh an aggregate of 8,941 pounds. This is an average weight of 208 pounds. Our biggest man is John L. Federovitch of Davis-Elkins. He weighs 264 pounds."

PRO-LADIES MEET TODAY WILL OPEN BUSY GOLF WEEK

Four Invitational Events Carded Wednesday.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The eighth annual pro-ladies tournament conducted by the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' association and the Chicago Women's District Golf association today at Westmoreland will open one of the busiest competitive weeks in the local district. Tommy Armour and Mrs. John Kay of Medinah, who won the event at Glen Oak last year, will play with different partners this time, Armour pairing with Mrs. E. B. Hall, while Mrs. Kay will team with Armour's assistant, Charley Penna.

Four invitational tournaments take over Wednesday's program, headed by Medinah's 14th annual Camel Trail day, largest of its kind in the section. More than 800 golfers are expected to play the big west side club's three courses. Other Wednesday events include Westmoreland's Tam o' Shanter Sunset Valley's Bump-Along tournament, and Joliet's Stag day.

The Chicago district qualifying round for the National Amateur will be transacted Thursday at North Shore with a field of 82 stars seeking the 18 places allotted to this section for the tournament proper, which will begin at the Omaha Field club on Aug. 25. ACORNS HELD TO A 2 TO 2 TIE BY WISLA ELEVEN

The Oak Park Acorns and Wisla, A and B division champions respectively of the International Soccer league, played to a 2 to 2 tie yesterday in the Greenfield stadium, Oak Park, before a crowd of 2,000. The game was the second of a total goal series to determine a new entrant in the major division. The first game, played last week, also was tied, 1 to 1.

Wisla refused to play an overtime period, and league officials will decide tonight if and when another match will be played to decide which of the two teams will gain promotion.

Cowboy Stuff Passe in This Texan's Book

When word got around yesterday that Chip Routt, Texas Aggie tackle, had arrived at the College All-Star headquarters at the Hinman house on the Northwestern university campus, old-timers expected to see a young man attired in a 10 gallon hat, high heeled boots and other cowboy trappings. They remembered the stir his brother, Joe, created when he arrived two years ago in western regalia. But Chip, and to all appearances he is a chip off the old block, was dressed in typical collegian style. "Joe," he said, "used to go in for that stuff, but heck, we aren't cowboys."

Babe Hollingbery of Washington State, the Pacific coast representative on the All-Star coaching staff, is recovering from an attack of influenza which he thought might interfere with his coaching activities. He informed Head Coach Carl Snavely yesterday that he now feels quite fit. Hollingbery has first hand information on 19 members of the All-Star squad who participated in the Shrine East-West game at San Francisco on New Year's day.

Two members of the All-Star squad owe their presence in Evanston to the leniency of their commanding officers in the army and the marine corps.

Tony Ruffa, Duke tackle, entered the army last spring and is stationed at Camp Lee, Petersburg, Va. He believes the fact that his superior officer, Capt. Joseph Fleisher, is a Chicagoan, had a lot to do with obtaining his leave. Ray Apolskis, Marquette center who is in the marine officers school at the Philadelphia navy yard, didn't learn until Saturday afternoon that he had been granted a leave. He was informed just in time to catch a plane for Chicago.

Jack Banta, Southern California half back, already has expense account trouble. When Jack got off the train in Chicago yesterday he jumped into a taxi and directed the driver to the Hinman house in Evanston. Not until the cab was on the Outer drive did he realize that he had negotiated for a 15 mile ride. Banta's ambition at the moment is to carry on the tradition for stellar play in the All-Star game established by former Trojan players. He would like to duplicate the performance of Ambrose Schindler who last year was voted the most valuable player on the squad.

The center contingent on this year's squad is expected to rank with the best in the eight year history of the game. Biggest of the pivot men is Chet Gladchuk of Boston college, a towering 6 foot 5 inch giant who weighs 252 pounds. Veterans around Dyche stadium claim he is the biggest All-Star they have yet laid eyes on and this goes for Joe Stydahar, the old West Virginia tackle, now a member of the Chicago Bears squad.

HAWAIIAN TEAM CAPTURES THIRD AAU SWIM TITLE

Chicago Towers Club 2d with 21 Points.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 10 (AP).—The Hawaiian Island team won its third National AAU swimming title today as two of its all-star squad established a pair of new American records.

Kiyoshi Nakama, defending champion, slid thru the water in 10:06.2 in the 800 meter race, shaving off eight-tenths of a second from the standard Ralph Flanagan of Miami, Fla., set in 1935.

In the day's final event Jose Balmores churned up the pool's surface for a victory in the 300 meter individual relay in 3:56.9, one and one-tenth second faster than Adolph Kiefer's 1940 mark.

In building up their total of 81 points the Hawaiians won first places in 8 of the 10 swimming races. Adolph Kiefer of Chicago broke their monopoly in the 100 meter back stroke and the Chicago Towers club in the 300 meter relay. The Chicago Towers club scored 21 points. Earl Clark, winner of both diving competitions, brought Ohio State third with 10 points.

The results:

800 METER FREE STYLE—Won by Kiyoshi Nakama, Hawaii; Bill Smith Jr., Hawaii, second; Bunmei Nakama, Hawaii, third; Charles Oda, Hawaii, fourth. Time, 10:06.2. [New American and AAU record; Old record 10:07, by Ralph Flanagan of Miami, 1935.]

100 METER FREE STYLE—Won by Takashi Hirose, Hawaii; Otto Jarets, Chicago Towers club, second; Bill Prew, Detroit, Mich., Athletic club, third; Dick Lyon, Pasadena, Cal., Athletic club, fourth. Time—1:00.1.

10 METER PLATFORM DIVING—Won by Earl Clark, Ohio State university, 107.7 points; Sammy Lee, Occidental college, second, 105.37; Norman Sper Jr., Santa Barbara, Cal., third, 100.73; Harry Emery, Santa Barbara, Cal., fourth, 96.90.

300 METER INDIVIDUAL MEDLEY RELAY—Won by José Balmores, Hawaii; Carlos E. Rivas, Honolulu, second; Michael Priano, Flatbush Boys club, Brooklyn, third; James Counsilman, St. Louis, fourth. Time, 3:56.9 [new record, old American and AAU records, 3:58.6, by Adolph Kiefer of Chicago, in 1940.]

OAK BROOK POLO TEAM MOVES TO FINAL OF SERIES

The Oak Brook polo team advanced to the final of the Suburban cup tournament by blanking the Woodland Polo club, 10 to 0, yesterday on Oak Brook stadium field. The winners qualified to meet the Evanston Polo club for the title.

With the arrival of the Ivory Rangers from Detroit today pairings will be made for the Central circuit tourney, which is to get under way tomorrow.

Richards Wins 30 Lap Feature at Riverview

Ray Richards captured the 30 lap feature event in last night's midget auto racing program on the Riverview speedway. Bob Muhkle was second, and Ted Duncan, Jimmy Caris and Pete Romcevich finished in order. The time was 7:57.71.

Davis, Nyberg Meet Tonight at Marigold

Bill Davis, the former Civilian Conservation corps lightweight champion at Prescott, Ariz., who has won the majority of his 12 bouts since turning professional a year ago, will attempt to deal George Nyberg of Port Arthur, Ont., his first defeat in two years in an eight round bout tonight in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street.

Davis, who is 19 years old and hails from Minersville, Pa., is an aggressive, two fisted fighter, the type Nyberg has demonstrated he can beat.

Principals in other eight round events on the program are Eddie Lander, west side 135 pounder, the winner of two matches these last few weeks, and Buster Baker of Terre Haute, and Joe Maxin, 1940 Chicagoland Golden Gloves middleweight champion, who has registered three consecutive decisions, and Lee Oma, Detroit. Four round contests involve Stormy Williams, heavyweight, also of Detroit, and Sam Morris, Chicago, and Alex Kondos, Milwaukee, 160 pounder, and Johnny Crane, Chicago.

For the seventh straight time Tarzan White, Chicago Cardinal football player, will head a wrestling show in Chicago when he meets Fritz Von Schaht in White City, 63d street and South Park avenue.

Steve Mamakos, Washington, D. C., middleweight, and Johnny Colan, 19 year old New York boxer, two of the most popular fighters Chicago has seen, will end boxing drills this afternoon in Trafton's gymnasium for a 10 round bout in Chicago Stadium outdoor arena Wednesday.

Colan will be seeking his 27th straight victory at the expense of his rugged 22 year old rival, but few believe Johnny can accomplish the trick. There is doubt in some quarters that he will be able to solve Mamakos' unorthodox style. Steve is the first ranking fighter the young New Yorker has been asked to face.

FIREMEN WIN, 16-2.

Ottawa, Ill., Aug. 10 [Special].—The Chicago Firemen's baseball team defeated Marseilles, Ill., today, 16 to 2. Bill Prussing allowed only six hits as his mates collected 21.

Princeton Leases Radio Rights for Football Games

Princeton, N. J., Aug. 10 (AP).—Princeton university announced today it had leased broadcasting rights for all six home games on its 1941 football schedule to an oil refining company. The move shattered a precedent as old as football broadcasting. Never before has Princeton permitted a commercial broadcast of a Tiger game, altho several contests have been aired on a noncommercial basis.

Since Yale signed a lease agreement with the same oil company in 1938, however, campus publications at Old Nassau have frequently advocated commercial broadcasts as a solution to declining sports income. Princeton's sports budget has shown a profit for only four years since 1932 and listed a deficit of $125,000 at the end of last season.

CHICAGO, Aug. 11 (J. W.)—Lou Breese, whose famous band is now playing at the Chicago theater, values his good head of hair as a real asset. He is among the leaders in all lines of endeavor who have retained their hair through treatment by John E. Warner Associates. Thousands of men have saved and improved their hair through the advanced scientific Warner treatment, but hundreds of others have been rejected because they waited too long and were told that they could not receive benefit from treatment. A private scalp examination and consultation is available to you at the offices of John E. Warner Associates without cost or obligation. Fees for treatment are very moderate and are payable as the treatments are taken, NOT IN ADVANCE. The new Chicago office of the John E. Warner Associates is located at 36 S. State, North American Bldg., N. W. corner of State and Monroe, Suite 1320-24, Phone Central 1451, hours 10 A. M. to 8 P. M. daily, Saturdays to 6 P. M.

Lively Porker Helps Make It Root's Big Day

A live pig, and a very frisky one at that, was added yesterday to the belongings of Charley Root, the 42 year old Cub veteran who was given his day at Wrigley field. The porker, a token of esteem from Doc Andrew Lotshaw, the club trainer, featured the list of goods showered on the old timer. The most expensive item was a station wagon purchased with contributions from fans, but Root also indicated keen interest in a check presented by the club. It called for $2,200.

The Cub players' offerings were a blanket with 16 stars, one for each of the veteran's years with the team, and a desk clock. Radio broadcasters put a casting rod and equipment in the station cart. The White Sox players sent $50 in gasoline coupons, enough to get the vehicle to the Root ranch in California. And there were floral pieces such as always adorn home plate ceremonies.

The Cubs grabbed their respective extra shirts last night and set forth on a tour that will take them to the seven other National league cities, the first of which will be St. Louis, where they open a two game series this afternoon with Larry French in charge of their pitching. Howard Krist will operate for the Cards.

Lyons and Lee Beat Indians for Sox, 5-2, 2-1

away from Grimes for the third Indian error of the inning. Hoag popped to Grimes and the big crowd cheered sarcastically.

The Indians halved the Sox lead in the third when Hemsley tripled to center and scored on Smith's infield out.

Sox Break Tie.

The score was 2 to 2 after Grimes led off the fifth with a home run drive into the left field stand.

The Sox broke the tie in the sixth. Chapman led off with a single and went to third on Wright's single. Appling tapped into a double play and Chapman scored.

The Sox put the game on ice in the eighth. Kolloway led off with a single and had the boyish notion it was good for a double. Don was thrown out by about 20 feet. Kuhel singled to right, stole second and scored on Chapman's double to left. Chapman scored on Wright's single to right.

Luke Scores Twice.

The Sox, after loading the bases to no avail in the second inning, broke thru for the first run of the second game in the fourth when Appling tripled with one down and scored on Hoag's fly.

Appling scored again in the sixth on his single and Kennedy's second double to give the Sox a 2 to 0 lead, which prevailed till the seventh when Walker tripled with one down and scored when Grimes singled off Lee's glove.

Winnetka Scores Tenth Straight Cricket Victory

Winnetka scored its 10th consecutive victory in the Illinois Cricket league by defeating Oak Park, 64 to 25, on Skokie field yesterday. Other scores: Chicago, 62, vs. Lake Forest, 53; Hyde Park, 161, vs. Washington, 80.

TIRED? PAY VISIT TO W-G-N AND SEE JACK HASKELL

W-G-N officials yesterday announced a new program for tired downtown shoppers and office workers. It will be inaugurated tonight at 6 o'clock, when listeners will be admitted for the first time to Jack Haskell's "Twilight Serenade" broadcast. Seats in the air conditioned studio where Haskell sings will be available each evening, Monday thru Friday, from 6 to 6:15 p. m. No tickets will be required.

When the tired Michigan avenue promenaders stop in, they will see and hear a polished, experienced, romantic singer who got his start in radio on W-G-N's "In Chicago Tonight" edition of the Northwestern university Waa Mu show last March. Producer William A. Bacher immediately recognized Haskell's abilities.

Haskell had been featured for two years with a dance band at Northwestern and had appeared with the university's glee club and chorus. He was graduated in June.

Charles H. Hamill.

Charles Humphrey Hamill, one of Chicago's most prominent attorneys and an active figure in civic affairs, died yesterday in Presbyterian hospital of a cerebral hemorrhage suffered last Monday after he had gone to the hospital for observation. Mr. Hamill was graduated from Yale university and elected to Phi Beta Kappa in 1890. In 1893 he was awarded his LL. B. from the Northwestern university law school. He began legal practice with the firm of Williams, Holt and Wheeler, and in 1897 formed a partnership with J. D. Hubbard. In June, 1898, he became a law partner of the late Senator Charles S. Deneen, an association which continued until Deneen became governor of Illinois in 1905.

In 1906 Mr. Hamill and Lessing Rosenthal formed the firm of Rosenthal and Hamill, now Rosenthal, Hamill, Eldridge, and King, and in recent years Mr. Hamill had served as counsel for that firm. From 1905 to 1909 he was attorney for the state insurance department.

He was president of the Second Ward Republican club from 1906 to 1910, and was for years prominent in Republican politics. He was active also in the Illinois constitutional convention of 1920; was president of the Law Club of Chicago in 1919-'20; was a member of the American, Illinois State, and Chicago Bar associations and of the American Society of International Law. He headed the Chicago Yale club in 1908-'09.

Member of Hospital Board.

At the time of his death Mr. Hamill was honorary president of the Orchestral association, of which he was president 15 years and a member since 1905. He also was on the Presbyterian hospital board, a former vice president of that institution, and had been a director of the United Charities. He was a former president of the Chicago club, and was a member of the University, Onwentsia, and Saddle and Cycle clubs, the Art institute, and the Chicago Historical society.

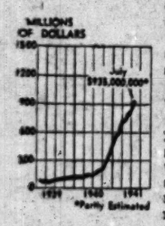
ORDER 'GETTERS' BOOSTING COST OF ARMAMENTS

U. S. Lets 'Contact Men' Operate.

New York, Aug. 10 [Special]. — While the ordinary citizen is being asked to make all sorts of sacrifices for rearmament and while the average taxpayer is wondering how to obtain the money for next year's taxes, the government continues to permit so-called "commission men" to run up the costs of the national preparedness program and correspondingly increase taxes. It also permits conditions to exist in its purchasing system that cause some manufacturers to believe they have to employ these "contact" men in order to get government orders.



The graph shows the rapidly rising cost of rearmament.

Act as Go-Betweens.

The "commission men" operate as go-betweens who say they have contacts in Washington and among army and navy procurement divisions thruout the country that enable them to land contracts the average small manufacturer who is trying to shift from nondefense to armament work cannot get.

Under the law governing such contracts, the manufacturer is prohibited from using outside "agents" or "lobbyists," but this has been circumvented by the employment of outsiders as company salesmen or officials. A percentage of the total value of the contract goes to the commission man.

Cloaks His Activities.

Just how widespread this practice is, how many commission men there are and how much their commissions have added to the cost of the defense program, probably cannot be determined except by a congressional investigating committee with its power of subpena.

The typical commission man emulates the late Sir Basil Zarahoff, the munitions maker of World war, in seeking to throw a cloak of mystery around his activities, and the manufacturer who has been unable to get an arms contract until a commission man comes along and produces a nice fat one, generally is not inclined to advertise anything that may stop the process.

Consequently, most of the stories about commission men remain in the field of rumor and gossip, but confirmation of a specific case in Wallingford, Conn., obtained thru talks with both a commission man and a manufacturer who has employed him illustrates the situation.

R. Wallace and Sons Manufacturing company, Wallingford silversmiths, is an old, strong, and highly regarded manufacturing company. It has been in business more than 100 years, manufacturing sterling and plated silver and steel products. In the World war it made surgical instruments and other war materials.

Getting Orders Is Difficult.

Because of the growing metal shortages it is confronted with a decrease in its regular operations unless it can shift to armament contracts. It has had numerous contracts to make its regular products for the army, navy, and marine corps, but until recently has been unable to get any real contracts outside of its regular line.

"Every manufacturer who hasn't been regularly in the armament business has difficulty getting defense contracts today," said William W. Rich, president of the company. "When you go down to Washington you get shuttled around from one agency to another, and nobody seems to know where the authority rests for any particular contract."

Employs Commission Man.

Three or four months ago, accordingly, the Wallace company employed Raymond P. Dickerman, former sales manager of the Bristol [Conn.] Brass company, who makes his headquarters in Washington on a commission basis. Within a short time Dickerman suggested to the company that it submit a bid for cartridge clips for Garand rifles. It did so, and received from the army what is reported to be a $1,000,000 order, altho Rich would not discuss the amount of the order, or Dickerman's commission.

"There is nothing shady or undercover about our arrangement with Dickerman," explained Rich. "We have to have somebody in Washington and elsewhere to get government business for us. You have to sell your product to the government just like anybody else, and you have to have somebody who knows the proper persons to see."

One Shipyard Idle, Another Bans Strikes

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Two New Jersey strikes affecting more than half a billion dollars of armament work appeared no nearer settlement yesterday, but workers at the New York Shipbuilding corporation, Camden, N. J., which has another half billion dollars of orders, approved a two-year contract.

The vast yards of the Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock company at Kearny, N. J., remained idle for a fourth day as a result of a CIO strike while word was awaited from the defense mediation board.

The Curtiss-Wright corporation's propeller plant at Caldwell, N. J., also was closed, but a company spokesman said the Sabbath shutdown had nothing to do with an AFL strike which began Friday and that an attempt would be made to resume regular operations today.

Base Wages on Living Cost.

The New York Shipbuilding corporation agreement with the CIO provided for a union shop and automatic wage increases based on living costs and barred strikes or lockouts.

The provision sets as a base the United States department of labor cost of living index of next Dec. 15. If the index shows an increase of five or more points six months later—June 15, 1942—the pay of more than 12,000 workers will be boosted one per cent for each point without further negotiation. Wages will then remain frozen for six months. Then the index will be examined again.

Altho reports were current that the government may take over the operation of the Federal Shipbuilding plant unless the walk-out there was ended soon, there was no indication in Washington that such a step was imminent.

The marine and shipbuilding union struck last Thursday because of the company's failure to accept a proposal by the defense mediation board that employés who failed to maintain good standing in the union be discharged from their jobs.

New Strike Scheduled.

A new strike threat appeared in Allentown, Pa., where the CIO United Auto Workers issued a call for a walkout at 8 a. m. today at the Mack Manufacturing company. A union official said the strike would not be called off unless the company agreed to make a 15 cent an hour wage increase retroactive to Aug. 4. Present scales range from 64 to 95 cents an hour.

At Philadelphia a navy yard spokesman reported that 348 AFL carpenters and drydock workers would return to their jobs at the yard today after a one-day work stoppage.

Striking AFL workers at Nevada Consolidated corporation's Chino mines division voted to submit to the national mediation board their dispute over demands for union recognition.

Seaway Plan Is Condemned as Socialistic

Charging that the St. Lawrence waterway project is part of a socialistic plan to liquidate private investment in the field of public service companies, the Transportation Association of America yesterday sent a summary of its study of the proposal to members of congress and to 20,000 farm, trade, and civic organizations.

The association estimates that the cost of the project, including future developmens, will equal 25 per cent of the revenue expected from the huge emergency tax bill now before congress. Twice defeated on its own merits by the senate in years past, the project a few days ago was lumped together with a long list of pork barrel bills to better its chances of adoption.

Profit Motive Perilled.

Subsidized power projects of the last 10 years fit into a pattern drawn by the Public Ownership league in 1923, the association states. The St. Lawrence waterway, like the Tennessee Valley authority, Arkansas Valley authority, and various similar projects, belong to the socialistic scheme to destroy the profit motive in American industry, the association asserted.

But where many previous uneconomic projects had the excuse of providing work for the unemployed, no such excuse can be advanced for the St. Lawrence project at this time, according to the association.

The average family of four persons is now saddled with a debt of $3,700, its share of the total national debt—local, state, and federal—said Donald D. Conn, executive vice president of the association.

"However, we know that the vast majority of 'average families' will not be obligated to pay for anywhere near this figure," Conn said. "It is the great American middle class which will be called upon to pay the bill.

"Of Doubtful Value."

"It may be premature to think in terms of how this debt is to be liquidated. But we can, at least, stop appropriations for domestic projects of doubtful value. No loyal American begrudges a single dollar for actual defense."

Study shows that the project will not benefit the western farmer because of the declining export demand for the types of grains produced in the lake states, Conn said. Since 1920 it has not been possible, as a general rule, for the American farmer to retain as added profit any reduction in transportation costs, he declared.

"Whenever transportation costs have been reduced to assist the farmers' export trade, foreign markets immediately reacted downward," said Conn. "The farmer and transport agencies received less and the foreign buyer received the benefit."

RENTS IN SOME OF ARMS MAKING AREAS DOUBLED

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10 (AP).—The work projects administration reported today that rents in some small industrial and military camp towns had more than doubled since the armament program began. Commenting on a survey of 58 communities, Howard O. Hunter, WPA commissioner, said:

"In a number of areas the rent increases have been truly startling. They are hardest, moreover, on the families who are least able to pay, because in most instances the increases have been relatively greater on the poorer and cheaper dwellings."

Leesville, La., showed the highest percentage of increase, 109 per cent.

SMALL BUSINESS IS FACING RUIN, MARTIN WARNS

Stifled by Rules, Tax and Arms Policy.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—Warning that thousands of small businesses in the United States are in grave danger of destruction because of the rearmament program, Representative Joseph W. Martin [R., Mass.], house minority leader, today announced appointment of a special committee of G. O. P. house members to study the perils confronting the small businesses and to map a program for saving them.

Martin charged that the small businesses have been deprived of a fair share of arms contracts and that they are being strangled by priorities and stifled by regulations and taxes. Unless the administration's present policies are reversed, he asserted, the small enterprises will be wiped out.

Warns of Blow to Democracy.

This would be a deadly blow for America and the American system of private enterprise, the Republican leader said.

"Surveys show," he continued, "that small businesses employing less than 200 workers comprise 99 per cent of all business and handle 65 per cent of the nation's commerce. The loss of the major portion of these would be a great calamity and would be especially deadly in the period which will follow the war.

"In England after two months of war 20,000 small business were forced to close, and about 20,000 more were about to do so, it was reported. Now in America the small enterprises, which have provided a livelihood for millions and made possible the prosperity of the nation, are hanging on the ropes.

Gives Specific Example.

"For instance some time ago the army asked for bids on serge for uniforms. There were 78 mills which submitted bids. The next invitation said 'no bids for less than 25,000 yards.' This time only 36 bids were received. The third call specified a minimum of 100,000 yards, and of course that restricted the contract to the larger concerns.

"The army desires the least amount of inspection and wants to do business with the fewest firms. Unquestionably some time could thus be saved, but we must also consider the consequences. If we destroy the small business enterprises of the country it will be a disastrous price to pay for saving a little time.

Study to Begin at Once.

"The committee proposes to do a wholly constructive job to the end that the efficiency and volume of the national preparedness work can be increased with a minimum damage to small business."

Martin said the special G. O. P. committee will begin work at once studying the dangers of the present and seeking some means of protecting these enterprises "against the confusion which will attend the readjustment of a war-exhausted and bankrupt world to some kind of a peace basis."

Representative Charles A. Halleck [R., Ind.] was named chairman of the group.

The other members are: George J. Bates [Mass.], Margaret Chase Smith [Me.], W. Sterling Cole [N. Y.], Leonard W. Hall [N. Y.], Albert L. Vreeland [N. J.], Louis E. Graham [Pa.], James W. Mott [Ore.], George H. Bender [O.], Leslie C. Arends [Ill.], Clare E. Hoffman [Mich.], Thomas D. Winter [Kas.], Walter C. Ploeser [Mo.], Henry C. Dworshak [Idaho], Usher L. Burdick [N. D.], and A. D. Baumhart Jr. [O.].

Bank of France Issues First Full Report Since War Began

VICHY, Aug. 10.—For the first time since the start of the war the Bank of France today published the full statement of its balance sheet. The statement gives the position of the bank as of July 10 and July 17, 1941, thus giving the opportunity to observe the fluctuations over the period of one week.

Sight obligations of the bank have, since the war began, expanded to more than 335 billion francs. The proportion of the gold reserves to these sight obligations was listed as 25.49 per cent, but there was no indication as to where these reserves were located.

[The French franc was quoted at 2.18 cents when trading in the unit in the open New York market ended in 1940.]

Distribution of Reserves.

It is known that a large part of the bank's reserves were transferred from Paris before the government left there.

Some of these reserves went to Dakar in Africa and a recently published estimate gave the following wartime distribution of gold which was declared to have reached 84 billion francs in July: West Africa, 47.60 per cent; the United States, 23.80 per cent; Canada, 11.90 per cent; England, 11.90 per cent; Martinique and other colonies, 4.70 per cent.

The July 17 statement showed holdings of 30 billion francs of negotiable treasury bonds and 66 billion francs in provisional noninterest bearing advances of the type authorized at the beginning of hostilities.

German Costs Indicated.

The special account which the bank carries on the costs of the German armies of occupation is given as 117,655,000,000 francs, having risen from 117,584,000,000 francs in the week.

Note circulation which stood around 100 billion francs when war was declared had reached 239 billion francs.

Nazis Spend More

BERLIN, Aug. 10.—The Reichsbank's note circulation reached a new wartime high of 16,030,000,000 marks on July 31. This amount was 465 million maarks higher than the peak set on June 30. The unusual increase may be the result of increased war expenditure in connection with the Russian campaign, it was said. Circulation was 8,710,000,000 marks at the outbreak of war on Aug. 23, 1939.

[The German market is quoted nominally at 40 cents.]

The value of the soviet ruble in territories occupied by the Germans has been fixed by the military authorities at 10 rubles to 1 reichsmark. The official rate of exchange before the opening of hostilities was 2 rubles to 1 reichsmark.

STANDARD OIL (IND.) EARNINGS RISE THIS YEAR

Taxes Reduce Loan Firm's Profits.

Consolidated net earnings of Standard Oil company of Indiana for the first six months of 1941 totaled $21,763,134, equivalent to $1.43 a share, Edward G. Seubert, president, announced yesterday. These earnings were listed after depletion and depreciation and after provision of $6,827,652 for federal income and excess profits taxes at rates now in effect, and after providing $1,681,832 for additional normal income taxes under the anticipated 1941 internal revenue act by applying rates totaling 30 per cent in lieu of 24 per cent under the existing law.

Edward G. Seubert.

Sales Volume Rises.

Consolidated net earnings for the first half of 1940 amounted to $20,497,222 or the equivalent of $1.34 per share. Seubert attributed the larger profit in 1941 to the increased volume of sales and to the restoration to "normal" of numerous cut prices.

Household Finance corporation, nation-wide personal loan company with headquarters in Chicago, had larger gross income in the first half of 1941 than a year earlier, but increased taxes caused net profit to decline, B. E. Henderson, president, reported.

In his semiannual report to stockholders, Henderson announced that the six month profit was $2,709,153, after United States and Canadian income and excess profits taxes, compared with $3,037,844 in the first half of 1940. The per share earnings in the respective periods were $3.07 and $3.51.

Tax Total Increases.

Provisions for federal and dominion income and excess profits taxes rose to $2,052,524 from $1,191,578 in the first half of 1940. Gross income from operations totaled $11,117,133, against $10,089,229.

Smaller profit than that of a year ago, despite increased sales, was reported by Union Bag and Paper corporation for the June quarter. Net income was $485,023, equal to 38 cents a share, against $597,773, or 47 cents a share, in the 1940 quarter.

Alexander Calder, president, indicated in his report to stockholders that increased federal taxes were a major factor in reducing earnings for the quarter.

Corporation net incomes reported yesterday included the following:

BREAK-UP ORDER.

What is the status of the SEC's death sentence proceedings against the United Gas Improvement system? What is the earnings situation?
—R. B. S.

Answer: The Securities and Exchange commission has granted the United Gas Improvement company a rehearing on its April 15 order that the holding company relinquish within one year its interests in nine utility firms outside Pennsylvania, Maryland, and Delaware.

Under the SEC order the company is limited to a single, integrated utility system in an area approximately 80 by 30 miles with a population of about 3 million. Properties to be retained in the system had an estimated book value of 350 million dollars. Total assets of the present system exceed 846 millions.

The SEC recently also directed the company to dispose of its control of 13 nonutility subsidiaries, mainly ice and cold storage companies.

U. G. I. is considered the oldest public utility holding system in this country. Its basic operating group is centered in Philadelphia and supplies gas, electric, and other utilities in industrial southeastern Pennsylvania and adjoining northern portions of Delaware and Maryland.

Connecticut properties of the organization, which the SEC has ruled do not properly belong in the integrated system, formerly constituted an important operating group. However, last spring, U. G. I. sold its interest in the principal operating unit, Connecticut Light and Power company.

U. G. I. earnings have declined gradually since 1930 and current annual profit is about 10 million dollars under the 1930 peak. Net income in 1940 was $28,006,353, equal after preferred dividends to $1.04 a common share. This compared with $28,719,328 or $1.07 a common share in 1939.

In the first half this year, net income was $12,817,989 or 47 cents a common share, against $13,777,924 or 51 cents a common share in the corresponding 1940 period.

Dividends have been paid consistently on the common stock since the company's formation in 1885 and the annual rate since 1934 has been $1 a share. Regular payments have been made on the preferred stock. The parent company has outstanding 765,216 shares of $5 cumulative preferred stock, and 23,252,010 shares of common stock, both of no par value.

U. G. I. has large investments in other utilities, including Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, Niagara Hudson Power corp., Commonwealth & Southern corporation, and Midland United company.

Standard Stoker Stock Will Be Offered Today

An underwriting group headed by Blyth & Co., Inc., will offer today 44,890 shares of common stock of the Standard Stoker company at $19.50 a share. The offering does not involve new financing for the company.

DAY by DAY on the FARM — by BOB BECKER

Third Crop of Hay

Aug. 10, 1941.

It won't be long until workers on the Wheaton farm will wheel out a mower and cut alfalfa in one of the sunny fields near the south boundary of the farm. This will be the third time that this particular field has yielded a hay crop this season.

With the alfalfa maturing rapidly as a result of the helpful rain last week, the question of the best time to cut it came up for discussion several days ago. There are several schools of thought on this question of when to cut clover or alfalfa in order to produce the most nourishing hay and still keep the stand in good condition.

Higher Protein Content.

Here are some of the things a middle western farmer has to think about when he's trying to decide just when to cut his alfalfa:

1. Agricultural schools have discovered that there is a higher protein content and lower fiber content in the crop if it is cut just before it is ready to blossom, or when about one-tenth of the plants are in blossom. If high nutritive value were the only consideration most farmers would cut their alfalfa at this stage of development, because as it grows higher it becomes coarser and its nutritive value is lower.

2. Fields of alfalfa are maintained in better condition if cut while in full bloom or near that stage. Consistently early cuttings may weaken and thin out the stand, retard root growth, lower the average yield, and permit the entrance of blue grass.

Little Difference in Yield.

3. There is very little difference in the yield between fields cut at full bloom and those cut at one-tenth bloom.

Study of these three points has led one authority on hay to conclude that farmers would do well to cut their first alfalfa crop each year at the one-tenth bloom stage. If the farmer ordinarily can take three crops of alfalfa a season he also could cut the second crop in the early bloom stage. These two crops would give him hay at its highest nutritive stage.

The final crop of the season, whether it be the second or third cutting, should be left to reach its full bloom before cutting, giving the roots a chance to get well established to survive the winter and keep weeds from getting a start in the field.

Hogs Go to Market.

A shipment of 25 hogs and 11 sheep went to market from the Wheaton farm this week. The hogs weighed 7,120 pounds, or an average of about 285 pounds each. They sold on the basis of $10.75 per hundred pounds. After selling expenses of $13.25 [for yardage, corn, commission, etc.] were deducted, the farm received a check for $752.15 for the 25 hogs.

The sheep sent to market were animals no longer useful or important in the development of the flock. Four head sold for $4.75 a hundred. Another four brought $3 a hundred and three went for $2.50 a hundred. The return on this mixed lot was $41.84, less selling expenses of $5.34.

PREDICTS ACCORD ON 500 MILLION TAX BILL BOOST

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10 (AP).—Chairman Walter F. George [D., Ga.] predicted today that the senate finance committee would approve an increase not exceeding 500 million dollars in the 3,236 million dollars of new taxes voted by the house.

Commenting that this would mean a total federal tax bill for the next calendar year of more than 13,000 million dollars, George said he thought that was about the limit that the American economy could stand at the present time without crippling all-important armaments production.

The committee will resume public hearings on the bill tomorrow with 14 witnesses, including representatives of business and financial organizations, scheduled to appear. Later in the week treasury experts are expected to submit recommendations for an approximate increase of 1,000 million dollars in the house approved total.

'41 CONSTRUCTION IS ESTIMATED AT 10,200 MILLIONS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10 (AP).—The commerce department predicted today that new construction, boomed by armament plant building, would total $10,200,000,000 this year compared with $6,850,000,000 in 1940.

It estimated that 1941 private construction would total $4,900,000,000 and public construction $5,300,000,000 compared with $4,183,000,000 and $2,667,000,000 respectively last year.
